ULSTER SENDS 85 MORE TO THE ARMY

Rousing Send-off Given to Boys of Divisions No. 1 and 2 by Citizens—Boys Did Most of Cheering—Demonstrations Elsewhere.

Kingston gave a send-off just as big as any of the previous demonstrations for National Army conscripts to the 29 boys of Division No. 1 and 17 boys of Division No. 2, who left this morning for Camp Dix, N. J., where they will go in training. Ten of the boys of Division No. 2 who come from Saugerties entrained at that place where Saugerties residents gave them a rousing send-off. Twenty-nine boys of Division No. 3 entrained at Napanoch where a big demonstration was given in their honor. Ulster's contribution today to the National Army numbered eighty-six sons.

The demonstration for the boys of Divisions No. 1 and 2 was not any smaller than the demonstrations for the previous details that have left Kingston for the army. The only way in which it differed from previous demonstrations was that there was less delay, for Kingston has become more accustomed to doing things in the right way, and fewer cheers, for Kingston is beginning to realize the seriousness of the war.

Today's parade was somewhat larger than the previous parades which was probably due to the fact that weather conditions were more nearly ideal than on any previous occasion. Eight o'clock found comparatively few paraders in the places assigned for the various divisions, but within fifteen minutes each division had begun to form with a good sized crowd. By the time the preparatory signal was sounded on the fire alarm at 8:25 o'clock the ranks of every division were fully formed and everyone stood waiting the signal, and at the first tap of the alarm five minutes later the parade was put in motion.

Behind a detail of police headed by Chief Wood, came the grand marshal and his aides and the committee of arrangements; then came Company M, First Regiment, New York Guard, headed by the Bailey Fife and Drum Corps, and the military character of the First Division was completed by members of Pratt Post, No. 127, G. A. R.: Colonial Camp, No. 75, Spanish War Veterans; the Old Guard of Ulster County; Tappen Camp, No. 1, Sons of Veterans; the Ladies' Auxiliary of Tappen Camp, No. 53; officers and men in active Federal service who are home on furlough and leave of absence: the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, and members of the Red Cross.

The Second Division, headed by the Kingston City Band, was composed of professional men of the city, the city and county officials, high school boys, and a larger number of business men of the city than have taken part in any previous parade.

The Third Division was headed by the Colonial City Band, with James S. Barber as drum major, behind which came the fathers of the conscripts, the local exemption boards of Divisions 1 and 2, and the boys who were selected to go to Camp Dix.

There was a big crowd at the corner of Main and Fair streets, composed largely of members of the families of the boys who had come there to say their good-byes, and another large crowd at the corner of Clinton avenue and Main street. Along Clinton avenue, Albany avenue and Broadway there was a good sized crowd which increased in size as the parade neared the railroad station.

The head of the procession stopped as it reached the railroad depot and the paraders formed open ranks, as on the last two occasions, when details left town. Through the open ranks marched the committee of arrangements, headed by Mayor Canfield, which met the boys, their fathers and the exemption boards a short distance beyond Cedar street. Everyone took off their hats as the boys passed, marching briskly to the strains of "Over There."

The boys were escorted through the ranks on Broadway and Railroad avenue to the station, where a special car was waiting and they entrained immediately. The ranks were closed by Company M and the police to hold the crowd in check. As soon as the last of the boys had boarded the car, a locomotive took the coach north to meet the regular train to which it was attached. The train pulled inthe station promptly at nine o'clock and after its customary five minutes started on its way. The first coach contained the members of the Greene county detail who had entrained at Catskill, and the ten members of the detail from Division No. 2 who had entrained at Saugerties. The coach containing the forty-seven boys who had marched to the station was the last of the train.

Company M stood at salute facing the train as it pulled out, and the Colonial Band played "The Star Spangled Banner" while the crowd with bared heads crowded forward to get a glimpse of the boys, who filled all the windows and waved hats and handkerchiefs in farewell. There was a rousing cheer from the boys, in which the boys from Greene county and Saugerties joined, but the cheers from the crowd which packed Railroad avenue and the space between the iron railing and the railroad tracks from the station to Broadway, was slight in comparison with the cheers which have been given before.

The boys were joined at Haverstraw by the Rockland county detail and were scheduled to arrive at Camp Dix shortly after four o'clock.

BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

Another slight German gain marked the renewal of the German drive against the British base at Amiens.

Using tremendous numbers of fresh troops the Germans delivered tremendous assaults against the British assaults between the Somme river and Luce rivulet all day Thursday and last night.

All were brilliantly repulsed, breaking down under the intense machine gun and rifle fire that was directed against the massed columns.

At one point, however, the British retired a short distance for stategic reasons, taking up a new line east of the village of Villers Bretenneux.

(Bretenneux lies at the point of the German salient and is about nine miles east of Amiens. It is on an important road, stretching from Amiens eastward past Peronne and Brie to Vermand. It is along this road that the Germans apparently delivered their hardest blows for it was in that sector that the British took op their new positions.)

The sacrifices made by the Germans to gain the small patch of ground west of Hamel were out of all proportion to their trifling success. Whole companies of field gray troops melted away under the fire from hundreds of British guns. Shrapnel mowed down the Germans in mounds.

North of the Somme river the Germans again commenced to bombard, which indicates that they plan further infantry attacks, probably in the region of Albert.

It is obvious from recent developments that the Germans hope to carry out a "pincer" operation against Amiens by striking from the northeast and the southeast. The striking points probably are Albert and the district just north of Montdidier.

The French front has been the scene of furious fighting morning. The Germans struck between Grivesnes and the Amiens-Roye road, using heavy forces.

(The French war office communique said that prisoners from eleven different German divisions were identified. A German division is usually made up of 12,000 bayonets.)

The Germans fought their way into a couple of villages, but the French line held with iron firmness and continuous attacks against height positions proved only costly failures for the Teutons.

Along the southern flank of the German salient, especially in the district between Montdidier and Lassigny there has been a violent artillery duel and it is expected that the resumption of the German drive will immediately result in the renewal of the Anglo-French counter offensive. Counter attacks are looked for over a wide front between Noyon and Montdidier.

This was the sixteenth day of the battle and the second day of the renewed German drive.

Bad weather has continued over the Picardy Plains and the new stage of the fighting finds the men struggling over fields and roads deep with mud.

Saugerties, N. Y., April 5—A hearty goodbye and God speed was given the eleven young men of Saugerties, who left for Camp Dix this morning. The exercises were held in the Orpheum Theatre which was filled to its capacity. Martin Cantine, chairman, introduced Rev. George T. U. S. SHIPPING FLAG RAISING SATURDAY

Impressive Ceremonies on the Island Dock to Which the Public is Invited to Procure Free Tickets--First and Last Chance to Inspect Big Shipbuilding Plant.

Saturday marks the first anniversary of the entry of our country into the world war and it will be appropriately celebrated all over the country. In this city there will be appropriate ceremonies attending the raising of the United States Shipping Board flag by the Kingston Shipbuilding Corporation at its shipyard on the Island Dock where ships for the government are being constructed.

This celebration is intended first for the men who are doing the actual work of building the ships that will help win the war, and there are two hundred and fifty of them employed on the yard. This morning they were called together and told to knock off work Saturday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock to attend the flag raising, and to name one of their number to raise the flag. The men at once wanted to know if they should dress up for the occasion.

John D. Schoonmaker, who addressed the men, replied: "We are here to build ships and we can't do it while we are dressed up."

The men took off their hats and waved them in the air and cheered heartily.

Later they chose Miss Clara Spinneweber of Port Ewen, daughter of Superintendent John Spinneweber, to raise the flag.

The flag raising will give the public at large its first and probably its large opportunity of seeing the shipyard in full operation, as it is closely guarded and no one is admitted. Visitors will be allowed to cross to the Island Dock at 1:30 o'clock, which will give them an hour and a half for the purpose of watching the men at work on the ships.

It should be borne in mind, however, that admission Saturday is by ticket only, which may be obtained free at the office of the Kingston Shipbuilding Corporation at 18 Ferry Street, or the office of Winston & Company, 240 Fair Street.

The entrance to the yard is from Abeel street, near the South Rondout ferry. There will be plenty of room to park automobiles on the upper Island Dock near the entrance to the shipyard.

An exceptionally interesting program has been arranged for the occasion and it will be well worth the while of every one who possibly can, to attend the ceremonies. The program will be as follows:

1. March of officers, guests and men, led by a band of music to the flag staff.
2. Patriotic music by the band.
3. Brief statement by Mayor Canfield as to the meaning of the flag and of the day.
4. Raising of the flag.
5. A call for cheers:
   (a) For the Presidentof the United States.
   (b) For the Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation.
   (c) For our Soldiers and Sailors.
6. "My Country 'Tis of Thee." (First and last stanzas).

   My country, 'tis of thee,
   Sweet land of liberty,
   Of thee I sing;
   Land where my fathers died:
   Land of the pilgrim's pride:
   From every mountain side
   Let freedom ring.

   Our fathers' God to Thee
   Author of Liberty,
   To Thee we sing;
   Long may our land be bright
   With freedom's holy light;
   Protect us by Thy might,
   Great God, our King.

7. An appeal from the Chairman of the United States Shipping Board to the Ship Workers of America, urging them on this first anniversary of our entrance into the war to dedicate themselves to their country's service.
8. Pledge to our National Flag.
   "I pledge allegiance to my flag, and to the republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."
9. "The Star Spangled Banner."

DR. CADY TAKES UP Y.M.C.A. WAR WORK

REV. DR. PUTNAM CADY.

The Rev. Putnam Cady, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church on Elmendorf street, will have charge of the Y. M. C. A. hut at Camp Mills on Long Island and Thursday evening he was granted a six months' leave of absence by the members of his congregation. Dr. Cady, although in Kingston but a short time, has established himself as one of the best pulpit orators in the city, and as a man who would make his presence felt anywhere. While in New York city Wednesday he found that the Y. M. C. A. was in immediate need of a man to take charge of the Y. M. C. A. hut at Camp Mills, and Dr. Cady promptly signed up for six months' service. Dr. Cady stated today that while he would not do much preaching he would look after the welfare of the boys in a social way at the Y. M. C. A. hut, running and planning entertainments for them and other work as taken up by the Y. M. C. A. in all the camps both here and over there.

N. A. MOBILIZATION ORDER IGNORED

Emery Deyo of New Paltz, R. F. D. No. 3, Did Not Respond to Local Board's Notice and His Case Has Been Reported to Adjutant General.

Emery Deyo, whose order number under the selective service law is 553, and whose serial number is 2,058, did not obey the order sent to him by the local exemption board for Division No. 1, and when he failed to appear in response to that order to go to Camp Dix this morning, his case was turned over to the adjutant general of the state.

Deyo's home address is New Paltz, R. F. D. No. 3 and he has been employed at Parlin, N. J., where his family sent his order card upon its receipt from the local board.

Deyo is the first of all the Ulster county conscripts who has failed to obey orders to appear for mobilization at the National Army cantonments. When one of the former details was sent away one man failed to appear because the card of notification bore the wrong date, but he arrived in town about the time the remainder of the boys of the detail were entrained and was sent forward to Camp Dix on a later train the same day.

THE WAR AS WOOD SEES IT

Put a "Glass Coat" on the Woodwork

Varnishing woodwork with Cosmolac is like laying an extremely thin sheet of unbreakable plate glass on the surface to be covered. Colors, grains or markings of any kind are not changed in the slightest degree.

Cosmolac

beautifies and preserves any surface requiring varnish. It is the best finish for furniture, bathrooms, wainscoting, floors, doors, canoes, yachts, steamboats — in all places, but especially where exposure ruins ordinary varnishes.

Cosmolac is proof against sun, rain, snow, cold, alcohol, alkali, soap, washing powder, etc. Applied as ordinary varnish it dries hard overnight to a full, even and permanent lustre.

Cosmolac is not "just another varnish." It is a new covering for wood that will meet tests that no other varnish made could survive.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scare and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Saturday.

Breakfast—*Sliced apples, rolled oats with top milk, *cereal muffins, coffee.

Lunch or Supper—Codfish balls, creamed carrots, *apple sauce with *lemon sauce.

Dinner—Ricium ditty, Duchess potatoes, prune and nut souffle.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

*May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal.

The carrot is one of the cheapest vegetables. It is cheap even when the price is more than ordinarily high because it gives such good returns in food value. It is especially rich to carbohydrates, chiefly sugar. It is also a good source of mineral matter. Carrots can always be found in the market, but the young ones are preferable to the older ones in flavor. For stews and soups, the older carrots, because of their strong flavor, serve an excellent purpose.

Ricium Ditty.

One cup grated cheese, 2 cups tomatoes or tomato soup, ½ small onion, grated, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, beaten, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 green pepper, chopped.

Mix the tomatoes, the cheese, the onion and the pepper. Melt the butter, add the mixture and when heated add the salt and the eggs. Cook in a double boiler until the eggs are of a creamy consistency, stirring and scraping from the bottom of the pan. Serve at once on toasted bread or left-over muffins.

Duchess Potatoes.

Beat mashed potatoes well and add hot milk until they are creamy. Add one beaten egg to three cups of potatoes. Mix well and bake in the oven until brown.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Read This;

Cotton on the Battlefield

A twelve-inch gun disposes of a half bale of cotton with every shot fired.

A machine gun in operation will use up a bale in THREE minutes.

In a naval battle, like the one off Jutland, from five to six thousand pounds a minute are consumed by each active warship.

It takes more than twenty thousand bales a year to provide absorbent cotton to staunch and bind the wounds of the injured.

One change of apparel for all the troops now engaged in the war represents more than a million bales.

One hundred thousand bales will be required to equip the proposd aeroplane fleet if cotton, as may be necessary, supplants linen for wings.

The U. S. is now turning nearly a million bales a year into explosives alone.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 5, 1918.

The Ulster county farmer, banker, merchant, laboring man and woman and everyone else who by denying themselves some luxuries will be enabled to help our boys and the boys of our Allies in the war to make the world safe for democracy is going to subscribe for Liberty Bonds of as big denomination as possible when the third Liberty Loan drive starts on Saturday. They did it with the previous Liberty Loans and were surprised to learn how easy it is to deny luxuries to one's self and by buying Liberty Bonds furnish the money needed to carry on the war and at the same time lay aside something for a rainy day. Everybody will bend every possible energy toward oversubscribing the Loan, because everybody by this time realizes how important it is and what an attractive investment is presented by the Liberty Bonds. Ocasionally there are discouragements as for instance the announcement which comes from the Publicity Department of the Liberty Loan Committee in New York city that the eight sub-district chairmen in the Second Federal Reserve District for the past two weeks "have given practically all their time to building up strong Liberty Bond selling organizations; they have met with the farmers, bankers, merchants and others who have enlisted to serve on the local Liberty Loan committee in the several counties in their respective territories," coupled with which announcement is the statement that Charles S. Sargent, Jr., a member of the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., "has been assigned the task of building up a Liberty Loan organization to cover sub-district No. 5," which includes Ulster county and which district "is a hard one to cover." Someone ought to thank Mr. Sargent for performing "the task of building up" these counties. It is indeed pleasant to know that we must be "built up" after a better record in New York city in every previous campaign. We will do it again, too, and incidentally will not consider the performance of any work in connection with the Liberty Loan a "task."

"Nothing is going to scare the board of public works." When we were children, very small at that, and with very immature minds, we were frequently "scared" by stories of the bogie man who came in the dark and carried away bad little children. As we grew up, we learned that a "scare" is like a boomerang and not only does it lose its force but it brings even from childish minds the contempt which the perpetrator deserves. The day of the "scare" is past. People have advanced and even children in the schools are taught from the beginning to pay no attention to the "scare" but to ascertain the facts and determine the right and the wrong of every question. The fact that the board of public works is immune to a "scare" is an indication that it has grown up and will consider facts and determine whether questions are right or wrong, including the question of the wholesale removal of trees. Recently a number of trees have been cut down in Kingston on the theory that they were unsound but in many cases nothing was found to be unsound except the bark and the judge who decided that the tree was further unfitted for shade purposes. It is encouraging to learn that "nothing" is going to scare our board of public works, as Mayor Canfield announced at the common council meeting on Tuesday evening. "Nothing" covers a wide field and shows how positive the board of public works is in the righteousness of its tree slaughter decision. It must even be sure that it is in the right though trees that were hacked by the tree expert as a mark of his disapproval may and probably will die. Incidentally, it might be wise to remember that when the public is convinced that it is right, history repeatedly has shown in America, at last, that "Nothing is going to scare the public."

The New Yorker whose principal idea of a joke is anything relating to any place outside of Manhattan Island and possibly some parts of Brooklyn and the Bronx must again be classed as the real "rube" of the country, reports indicating that the operation of the new daylight saving law went into operation without hitch everywhere except in New York city. According to the Manhattanese method of reasoning, however, the fact that New Yorkers made the mistakes was probably due to their unusual intelligence. It is doubtful if there was anyone in Ulster county who failed to understand thoroughly the operation of the daylight saving law and the method of changing the clock's time by setting clocks and watches one hour ahead. In New York city, however, there were innumerable instances of people setting their clocks one hour backward, and in numerous other instances the clocks were set forward twice. Persons whose business is sufficiently important to justify the installation of an automatic clock are presumed to have enough intelligence to run the business and ought to have sufficient sense not to have turned the hands of their clocks backward, but that is what they did. The average New Yorker, who himself has come from the country but forgotten it, delights in stale jokes at the expense of anyone who lives beyond the Bronx or beyond the waters of the East river, the North River or the Lower Bay, but he exhibits greater density of intellect than the average man of any American hamlet. It doesn't require a big memoranda book to accommodate a list of all the things he knows, but, like most densely ignorant people, his ignorance doesn't disturb him. He is satisfied merely that he lives in New York which ought in his opinion, to be honor enough for any individual, no matter how vast his ignorance may be. Errors in setting clocks resulted in covering the faces until they could be set right. If such a thing happened in any other place, how the average New Yorker would laugh at other people's ignorance.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"I play entirely by ear," said the amateur musician, proudly. "Ahem! So I perceive," replied the caustic person. "Has it ever occurred to you to consult an aurist?"—Birmingham Age Herald.

"Son, I fear you are not in a position to marry just now." "But I can't wait. We were made for each other." "There will have to be a little money made, too, my boy."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Postmaster—"Why did that sorter quit?" Assistant—"He said that his eyesight was so poor that he couldn't read the newspaper-address labels." Postmaster—"What difference does that make?"—Buffalo Express.

"Some questions are never answered." "True. A great deal of discussion is like saying, 'Polly want a cracker?' to a parrot. The parrot hands it back and the conversation goes on indefinitely over the cracker that nobody cared about in the first place."—Washington Star.

No Reason Why He Should.

A man from the north of England was spending a few days in London with a friend and, after a busy morning of sight-seeing, the Londoner took him to a large restaurant at noon, thinking that lunching there would be a novel experience for the countryman. The visitor appeared to enjoy his luncheon, but he kept looking anxiously toward the door.

"What are you watching?" asked his friend.

"Well," was the quiet reply, "Aa's keeping an eye on ma top-coat."

"Oh, don't bother about that!" said the other. "You don't see me watching mine."

"No," observed the visitor, "thoo has no coat to watch. It's ten minutes sin thine went."—Youth's Companion.

Too Good For the World.

With fear and trembling he approached the doctor. "I know there's something wrong with my heart, doctor. I have a feeling that I'm not going to live very long."

"Nonsense! Give up smoking."

"Never smoked in my life, doctor."

"Well, stop drinking."

"I am a total abstainer from alcoholic drink."

"Well, try going to bed earlier; get more sleep."

"I'm always in bed at 9 o'clock."

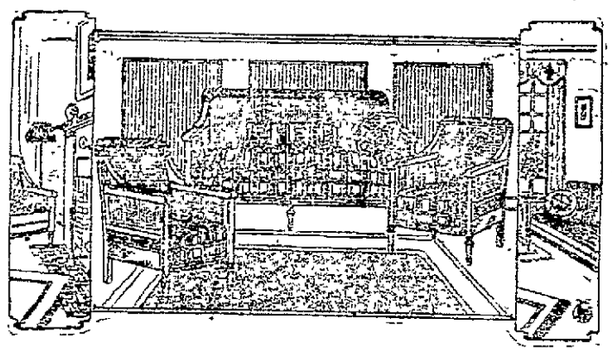
Hints to be Considered in Furnishing



Appropriateness is a most important consideration, for no furniture, however beautiful in itself, can be permanently satisfactory if inappropriate to its purpose or surroundings. Overstuffed furniture, for example, is the top notch of luxurious elegance for the winter home, but scarcely suitable for the summer one. If one cannot afford two homes, then furniture appropriate for both seasons should be employed.

For example—Cane with Mahogany. This beautiful furniture combines exquisite distinction with lightness, airiness, and a charm that facinates—winter or summer. There are many of these suites here, superbly made in every respect, and richly upholstered in damask or velour, with separate pillows. One is illustrated.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 5, 1918.

The Ulster county farmer, banker, merchant, laboring man and woman and everyone else who by denying themselves some luxuries will be enabled to help our boys and the boys of our Allies in the war to make the world safe for democracy is going to subscribe for Liberty Bonds of as big denomination as possible when the third Liberty Loan drive starts on Saturday. They did it with the previous Liberty Loans and were surprised to learn how easy it is to deny luxuries to one's self and by buying Liberty Bonds furnish the money needed to carry on the war and at the same time lay aside something for a rainy day. Everybody will bend every possible energy toward oversubscribing the Loan, because everybody by this time realizes how important it is and what an attractive investment is presented by the Liberty Bonds. Occasionally there are discouragements as for instance the announcement which comes from the Publicity Department of the Liberty Loan Committee in New York city that the eight sub-district chairmen in the Second Federal Reserve District for the past two weeks "have given practically all their time to building up strong Liberty Bond selling organizations; they have met with the farmers, bankers, merchants and others who have enlisted to serve on the local Liberty Loan committee in the several counties in their respective territories," coupled with which announcement is the statement that Charles S. Sargent, Jr., a member of the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co., "has been assigned the task of building up a Liberty Loan organization to cover sub-district No. 5," which includes Ulster county and which district "is a hard one to cover." Someone ought to thank Mr. Sargent for performing "the task of building up" these counties. It is indeed pleasant to know that we must be "built up" after a better record than New York city in every previous campaign. We will do it again, too, and incidentally will not consider the performance of any work in connection with the Liberty Loan a "task."

"Nothing is going to scare the board of public works." When we were children, very small at that, and with very immature minds, we were frequently "scared" by stories of the bogie man who came in the dark and carried away bad little children. As we grew up, we learned that a "scare" is like a boomerang and not only does it lose its force but it brings even from childish minds the contempt which the perpetrator deserves. The day of the "scare" is past. People have advanced and even children in the schools are taught from the beginning to pay no attention to the "scare" but to ascertain the facts and determine the right and the wrong of every question. The fact that the board of public works is immune to a "scare" is an indication that it has grown up and will consider facts and determine whether questions are right or wrong, including the question of the wholesale removal of trees. Recently a number of trees have been cut down in Kingston on the theory that they were unsound but in many cases nothing was found to be unsound except the bark and the judge who decided that the tree was further unfitted for shade purposes. It is encouraging to learn that "nothing" is going to scare our board of public works, as Mayor Canfield announced at the common council meeting on Tuesday evening. "Nothing" covers a wide field and shows how positive the board of public works is in the righteousness of its tree slaughter decision. It must even be sure that it is in the right though trees that were hacked by the tree expert as a mark of his disapproval may and probably will die. Incidentally, it might be wise to remember that when the public is convinced that it is right, history repeatedly has shown in America, at last, that "Nothing is going to scare the public."

The New Yorker whose principal idea of a joke is anything relating to any place outside of Manhattan Island and possibly some parts of Brooklyn and the Bronx must again be classed as the real "rube" of the country, reports indicating that the operation of the new daylight saving law went into operation without hitch everywhere except in New York city. According to the Manhattanese method of reasoning, however, the fact that New Yorkers made the mistakes was probably due to their unusual intelligence. It is doubtful if there was anyone in Ulster county who failed to understand thoroughly the operation of the daylight saving law and the method of changing the clock's time by setting clocks and watches one hour ahead. In New York city, however, there were innumerable instances of people setting their clocks one hour backward, and in numerous other instances the clocks were set forward twice. Persons whose business is sufficiently important to justify the installation of an automatic clock are presumed to have enough intelligence to run the business and ought to have sufficient sense not to have turned the hands of their clocks backward, but that is what they did. The average New Yorker, who himself has come from the country but forgotten it, delights in stale jokes at the expense of anyone who lives beyond the Bronx or beyond the waters of the East river, the North River or the Lower Bay, but he exhibits greater density of intellect than the average man of any American hamlet. It doesn't require a big memoranda book to accommodate a list of all the things he knows, but, like most densely ignorant people, his ignorance doesn't disturb him. He is satisfied merely that he lives in New York which ought, in his opinion, to be honor enough for any individual, no matter how vast his ignorance may be. Errors in setting clocks resulted in covering the faces until they could be set right. If such a thing happened in any other place, how the average New Yorker would laugh at other people's ignorance.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"I play entirely by ear," said the amateur musician, proudly. "Ahem! So I perceive," replied the caustic person. "Has it ever occurred to you to consult an aurist?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"Son, I fear you are not in a position to marry just now." "But I can't wait. We were made for each other." "There will have to be a little money made, too, my boy."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Postmaster—"Why did that sorter quit?" Assistant—"He said that his eyes are so poor that he couldn't read the newspaper address labels." Postmaster—"What difference does that make?"—Buffalo Express.

"Some questions are never answered." "True. A great deal of discussion is like saying, 'Polly want a cracker?' to a parrot. The parrot hands it back and the conversation goes on indefinitely over the cracker that nobody cared about in the first place."—Washington Star.

No Reason Why He Should.

A man from the north of England was spending a few days in London with a friend and, after a busy morning of sight-seeing, the Londoner took him to a large restaurant at noon, thinking that lunching there would be a novel experience for the countryman. The visitor appeared to enjoy his luncheon, but he kept looking anxiously toward the door.

"What are you watching?" asked his friend.

"Well," was the quiet reply, "Aa's keeping an eye on ma topcoat."

"Oh, don't bother about that!" said the other. "You don't see me watching mine."

"No," observed the visitor, "thoo has no coat to watch. It's ten minutes sin thine went."—Youth's Companion.

Too Good For the World.

With fear and trembling he approached the doctor. "I know there's something wrong with my heart, doctor. I have a feeling that I'm not going to live very long."

"Nonsense! Give up smoking."

"Never smoked in my life, doctor."

"Well, stop drinking."

"I am a total abstainer from alcoholic drink."

"Well, try going to bed earlier; get more sleep."

"I'm always in bed at 9 o'clock."

"Oh, well, all I can say is, my dear sir, that I think you had better let nature take its course. You're altogether too good for this world."—Everybody's Magazine.

SOLDIERS SPEAK AMERICAN FRENCH

Wonderful Results of Struggles With Language by Soldiers in American Expeditionary Force in France.

New York, April 5.

"American French" is what they speak

"They means our American soldiers overseas. The people of France have given this new name to the weird and incoherent noises the boys in khaki make under the impression that they are using the best of Parisian "parley." All the same, our soldiers usually manage to get what they want.

How the American soldiers are learning to speak French, the mistakes they make, and the dilemmas their ignorance of the language leads them into, are amusingly told in the following extracts from letters written by a Young Men's Christian Association worker overseas.

Soldier Learns "Wee, Wee" Means, "We Haven't Any More."

"It is amusing to see our troops trying to converse with the townspeople. One of the officers told me that in a letter he censored, one of the men wrote to his girl, 'We're picking up French very rapidly. We've already learned that 'Wee, wee' means 'We haven't any more.'

"One afternoon down in the village one of the men came up to me and said 'You speak French, don't you?' I replied that I could speak it just a little. Then he said, 'I wish you'd help me out. There's a Frenchwoman over there that's got my pants, and I can't seem to make her understand that I've got to have 'em for inspection this afternoon.' I asked, 'What's she doing with your pants?' and found that she'd just been washing them for him. I went over with him, and got off a hesitating 'Ou est ses pantalon?' There ensued a perfect torrent of words, none of which meant anything to me. So I tried out my idea of 'When will he get them?' in French. She evidently had caught on to the idea that her French didn't convey anything to us, so she went through vigorous motions illustrating washing, and then pointed to the sky. Thereupon the soldier said, 'Oh, I get her now. She means she's washed them, and can't get them dry till the sun comes out. Much obliged. Nothing doing today.' I asked what he'd do about inspection, and he said he guessed he'd try to borrow a pair.

"A good deal of this sort of thing reminded me of the drawing of Captain Bairnsfather, the British officer, who has done such great work drawing cartoons. I find, along the British front. He has one picture of a placid Tommy gazing at a French porter, attired in the customary long smock. The Tommy—called Alf—has asked a simple question, to which the porter has replied with a five-minute oration in French. And the Tommy says, 'That's all right. Now how does the chorus go?'

"I Can Talk French Enough to Get Things to Eat," Soldier Says.

"I had a room in the village with some people who sold cakes and fruit to our men, and one afternoon I met a young enlisted man in the hall. He had a bag of plums under his arm, and some money in his hand, and I stopped thinking I might have to help out with my pigeon French. 'Oh, I can get along all right,' he said. 'I can talk enough to get something to eat.'

"Then he turned to the girl, and said in regular Broadway English, 'Say, got any gingerbread?' to which she answered, 'Ah, oui.' 'Well, trot some out, will you?' As she darted into the kitchen for the gingerbread, I went on upstairs, lost in admiration of his modern French.

"There is a story going the rounds of a sign in a Paris restaurant. 'Wanted, Americans waiters who can speak French.' Some one asked the proprietor why he didn't get French waiters if he wanted French spoken. He replied, 'Oh, I don't mean that. I mean American French.'

"I ate at an officers' mess in the house of a Frenchwoman about fifty years old. One of the troops was detailed as her assistant. He was a young southerner from Tennessee, who had enlisted, as soon as the war broke out, at 17 years old. I would sit at breakfast and hear the conversation going on in the kitchen—Madame with a perfect torrent of French, and Hudson in English, with his slow southern drawl. We tried to carry on a conversation with Madame ourselves, with much referring to dictionaries. Hudson would stand by, and when we just looked blank after one of her torrents, he'd say, 'That's all right. She just wants to know whether your friend is coming to supper tonight.'

Moonshiner Wants to Take Steel Helmet Home After the War.

"The men I worked with were regulars, part of an infantry regiment that had been included in Pershing's column in Mexico. However, the increase in the size of the companies to war strength and other factors had brought in many new men, so that about 70 per cent of the battalion were recruits. A great number of them were southerners, and it would come out in various ways. One of them from a feud section told one of the officers that he'd been in a good many wars in his life time, but that this was the first public war he'd ever been in. Another, a moonshiner, was much pleased with the steel helmets, and remarked that when he got out in the hills at home, he could lie out on the ground, and no sheriff peppering at him with a shot gun could hurt him."

Teaching the men how to speak French so that their struggles when they get overseas may be easy as possible has been an important part of the educational work of the Y. M. C. A. in this country.

FIRST BALL GAME OF THE SEASON

Sunday the Universal Club will line up against the Young Israelites, a downtown organization. It will be the first game for both teams. The game promises to be a hot one as both teams have been practicing hard for weeks past. Both teams have played several practice games and all the players seem to be in mid-season shape. The Israelities will have Furmansky as pitcher and Josefson catcher, while Van Bramer will hurl and Feeney will be behind the bat for the Universal nine. These two pitchers have not worked in practice games yet outside of playing in the outfield and as these teams are rivals, the game promises to be a hot one. The pitchers expect to pitch a full game unless necessary to do otherwise. The lineups will be as follows, the players are arranged in their batting order:

Young Israelites

Alcon, first base; P. Josefson, catcher; Furmansky, pitcher; I. Levine, second base; Epstein, left field, Mufson, short stop; Lehner, third base; Miller, right field; Avnet or A. Josefson, center field.

Kline, second base; Lifshinn, right field; Feeney, catcher; Senter, centre field; Edwards, third base; Van Bramer, pitcher; Keegan, short stop; Jordan, left field; Dougherty, first base.

CORN, THE AMERICAN FOOD.

As we wish to save every ounce of white flour possible in our food in these days of pressing need, it is well for us to remember that our forefathers had little else but corn for bread in the early days. In 1588 Hariot in his account of the Virginia colony writes of maize as follows: "The graine is about the bigness of our ordinary English peaze. It yeelde whité sweete flowre; being used according to its kind, it maketh a very goode bread."

As cornmeal or corn flour lacks the tenacious substance (gluten) present in wheat it is impossible to make a good yeast bread from it alone; but by using the flour in the sponge, cornmeal may be used as substitute from one-fourth to a third of the flour used in kneading, in this way saving a large amount of flour for our country's need. Bread which has corn flour or cornmeal added should be longer baked to be palatable.

Fifty-Fifty Biscuits.—Take two cupfuls of white flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of salt, three tablespoonfuls of shortening and two of sugar, liquid to mix to the proper consistency, about one to one and a half cupfuls. Milk, potato water or other vegetable water of little flavor may be used, in this way much mineral matter is taken into the body.

Fifty-Fifty Griddle Cakes.—Take one cupful of sour milk, three-fourths cupfuls each of flour and corn meal, a half teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of baking powder, a half teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of molasses and one beaten egg. Get a few pounds of flank fat, try it out, saving the scraps, mix the fat while hot with lard and it will keep it soft as butter. Use the scraps finely chopped to stir into a cornmeal mush, well seasoned with salt, and a few dashes of cayenne. Pour into a bread pan to mold. Unmold and slice, fry in the hot flank fat, for a most filling breakfast dish.

Mazola—the refined oil from Corn for Cooking and Salads—is the housewife's greatest discovery of the past year

WOMEN all over America are asking themselves "Where would we be today, with the need for saving animal fats—butter, lard, suet—if it were not for Mazola?"

They are the women who have discovered what wonderfully delicious pastry, fried and sautéd dishes and salad dressings can be made from this pure oil pressed from Indian Corn.

And now economically.

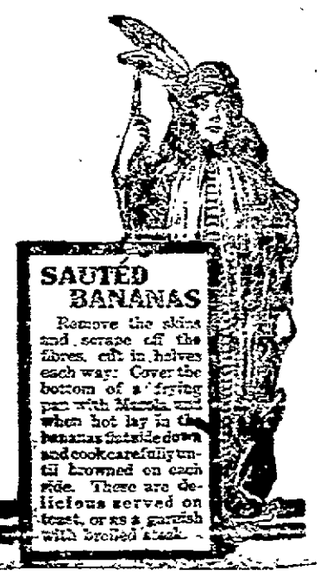
Not one single drop of Mazola is wasted—it can be used over and over again as it does not transmit odors or flavors from one food to another.

For sale in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons. For greater economy buy the large sizes.

There is a valuable Cook Book for Mazola users, which should be in every home. Send for it or ask your grocer. FREE.

Corn Products Refining Company, P. O. Box 161, New York



SAUTÉD BANANAS

Remove the skins and scrape off the fibres, cut in halves each way. Cover the bottom of a frying pan with Mazola and when hot lay in the bananas flat side down and cook carefully until browned on each side. These are delicious served on toast, or as a garnish with broiled steak.

The KITCHEN CABINET

What kinder spot on earth?
A fire on the hearth,
A furry rug and small
A picture on the wall,

Well shaded and bright,

CORN, THE AMERICAN FOOD.

As we wish to save every ounce of white flour possible in our food in these days of pressing need, it is well for us to remember that our foremothers had little else but corn for bread in the early days. In 1588 Hariot in his account of the Virginia colony writes of maize as follows: "The graine is about the bigness of our ordinary English peaze, it yeelde white sweete flowre; being used according to its kind, it maketh a very goode bread."

As cornmeal or corn flour lacks the tenacious substance (gluten) present in wheat it is impossible to make a good yeast bread from it alone; but by using the flour in the sponge, cornmeal may be used as substitute from one-fourth to a third of the flour used in kneading, in this way saving a large amount of flour for our country's need. Bread which has corn flour or cornmeal added should be longer baked to be palatable.

Fifty-Fifty Biscuits.—Take two cupfuls of white flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of salt, three tablespoonfuls of shortening and two of sugar, liquid to mix to the proper consistency, about one to one and a half cupfuls. Milk, potato water or other vegetable water of little flavor may be used, in this way much mineral matter is taken into the body.

Fifty-Fifty Griddle Cakes.—Take one cupful of sour milk, three-fourths cupfuls each of flour and corn meal, a half teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of baking powder, a half teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of molasses and one beaten egg. Get a few pounds of flank fat, try it out, saving the scraps, mix the fat while hot with lard and it will keep it soft as butter. Use the scraps finely chopped to stir into a cornmeal mush, well seasoned with salt, and a few dashes of cayenne. Pour into a bread pan to mold. Unmold and slice, fry in the hot flank fat, for a most fitting breakfast dish.

Sowing Slow Seeds.

In sowing seeds that start slowly, as parsnips, celery, etc., it is well to sow with them a few strong, quick-germinating seeds to break the crust and mark the rows so that cultivation may begin early.

WOMEN all over America are asking themselves "Where would we be today, with the need for saving animal fats—butter, lard, suet—if it were not for Mazola?"

They are the women who have discovered what wonderfully delicious pastry, fried and sautéd dishes and salad dressings can be made from this pure oil pressed from Indian Corn.

And now economically.

Not one single drop of Mazola is wasted—it can be used over and over again as it does not transmit odors or flavors from one food to another.

For sale in pints, quarts, half gallons and gallons. For greater economy buy the large sizes.

There is a valuable Cook Book for Mazola users, which should be in every home. Send for it or ask your grocer. FREE.

ALLEGED TRAITOR LYNCHED BY MOB

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Collinsville, Ill., April 5.—After having twice been rescued from mobs during the night, Robert P. Praeger, 45, alleged disloyalist, was taken from the city hall early today by a mob of more than 500 men and, after being forced to kiss the flag, was hanged to a tree about two miles west of the town. Only a few minutes previously he had protested to the police that he was a loyal citizen.

Praeger is said to have talked Socialism and made disloyal remarks in a speech he made decently to miners at Maryville a mining town

The man was formerly a baker and worked in Collinsville, a city of four thousand population, twelve miles east of St. Louis.

While police from East St. Louis were rushing to the scene, Praeger was strung to the tree, his feet ten feet from the ground. Not a word was spoken by the mob It went about its ghastly work quietly and systematically. One man, apparently one of the leaders, said after Praeger had been hanged:

"This, my friends, should be a warning to all pro-Germans and other disloyal citizens. We will not tolerate disloyalty in this country"

The coroner at Edwardsville, Madison county, was notified of the lynching and took charge of the body.

When a recent wave of patriotism swept over many Illinois towns the miners and others at Maryville organized a committee to deal with Praeger Twice before he had been threatened with mob violence but had been rescued.

A mob formed in Maryville had attempted to capture Praeger, but he escaped and made his way by automobile to Collinsville. Several of the members of the first mob followed him and succeded in raising another crowd in Collinsville.

He was captured, compelled to remove his shoes and stockings, draped with an American flag and started on a march down the main street, while the voices of the crowd were raised in a national anthem. Then he was rescued by the police and taken to the city hall

"While I was born in Germany, I have been naturalized and, I am for the good old U. S. A.," Praeger declared to the police

Early in the night the man was again taken in hand by members of the local "Loyalist" committee and forced to parade through the streets kissing the flag at intervals Again he was rescued by the police and taken to the city hall.

A few hours later the crowd, swelled in proportions, gathered in front of the city hall and demanded the surrender of the now terrorized man Mayor Siegel, from the steps of the hall, pleaded with the mob to let the law take its course and in reply it rushed through a cordon of police and after a short search, dragged Praeger from his hiding place in the basement. With scarcely a word spoken the mob rushed him to the scene of his execution.

KINGSTONIANS HEAR SERGEANT PAGE

Several Kingstonians, including members of the educational subcommittee of the Woman's Branch of the Home Defense Committee of Ulster county were privileged to hear Sergeant Page of the Canadian Black Watch, returned, wounded, speak at Highland last evening. Sergeant Page was an Ogdensburgh boy, who ran away and, in 1914 enlisted in the Canadian Black Watch While his entire address was most thrilling, his description of a bayonet charge in which he participated was particularly so He had been continuously in the trenches for twenty-eight days, and had received any number of wounds. Sergeant Page walks with a cane, showing his disablement, but only in that way, for his enthusiasm and entreaty in behalf of the war is keen indeed The educational committee Mrs G. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman, is planning to have Sergeant Page speak in Kingston some evening next week, if possible, in the interest of the new Liberty Loan Further announcement of this matter will appear later in The Freeman.

A HOE FOR EVERY HOME

The hoe has become a weapon of war. The food situation was never more serious than now Saving food is one solution of the world shortage, substitution is another, but equally important is the spring edict from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Food Administration that the country must plant and produce more food this year than ever before

The urgency of this demand must be appreciated and acted upon promptly by every home in America Every householder with even a little land to spare should buy a hoe. The hoe should become the symbol of a self-sustaining household as regards garden foods Every peck of potatoes and every pint of peas brought in from the back yard releases that much more for the current market and saves that much to ship abroad

Almost every home has some member who can devote a little time each day to the hoe This should be considered as much a part of patriotism as to buy thrift stamps or to knit for the soldiers It is necessary to do our part to finance this war, but of what avail to furnish money if we fail to feed the army and the civilians who are waging it?

The allied countries have little left on the credit side of their food ledger after nearly four years of war. Canada has sent during these years every particle of food she could possibly spare

It has now become America's part to be the bread basket for the world This means that America must save and stretch and produce foodstuffs as never before in all her history It means that the shipping shortage should be considered carefully in saving certain foods and substituting others for home consumption It means that the rail congestion should be thought of in the selection of those foods nearest at hand.

And above all, it means that every home with available land should produce enough garden foodstuffs this summer to feed itself and to can and store for the winter ahead Every home should have a hoe and every member of the home should see to it that he has done his part in furnishing the family larder with garden produce

The one advantage the poor man has is that he knows his friends like him for what he is and not for what he has.

Proceeds from the sale of the hide, fat, and other by-products covered all expense of dressing, refrigeration, freight, selling expense and the profit of $1.29 per steer as shown by Swift & Company's 1917 figures as follows:

Average price paid for live cattle per steer	$84.45
Average price received for meat	68.97
Average price received for by-products	24.09

KINGSTONIANS HEAR SERGEANT PAGE

Several Kingstonians, including members of the educational subcommittee of the Woman's Branch of the Home Defense Committee of Ulster county, were privileged to hear Sergeant Page of the Canadian Black Watch, returned, wounded, speak at Highland last evening. Sergeant Page was an Ogdensburgh boy, who ran away and, in 1914 enlisted in the Canadian Black Watch. While his entire address was most thrilling, his description of a bayonet charge in which he participated was particularly so. He had been continuously in the trenches for twenty-eight days, and had received any number of wounds. Sergeant Page walks with a cane, showing his disablement, but only in that way, for his enthusiasm and entreaty in behalf of the war is keen indeed. The educational committee, Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman, is planning to have Sergeant Page speak in Kingston some evening next week, if possible, in the interest of the new Liberty Loan. Further announcement of this matter will appear later in The Freeman.

A HOE FOR EVERY HOME

The hoe has become a weapon of war. The food situation was never more serious than now. Saving food is one solution of the world shortage; substitution is another, but equally important is the spring edict from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Food Administration that the country must plant and produce more food this year than ever before.

The urgency of this demand must be appreciated and acted upon promptly by every home in America. Every householder with even a little land to spare should buy a hoe. The hoe should become the symbol of a self-sustaining household as regards garden foods. Every peck of potatoes and every pint of peas brought in from the back yard releases that much more for the current market and saves that much to ship abroad.

Almost every home has some member who can devote a little time each day to the hoe. This should be considered as much a part of patriotism as to buy thrift stamps or to knit for the soldiers. It is necessary to do our part to finance this war, but of what avail to furnish money if we fail to feed the army and the civilians who are waging it?

The allied countries have little left on the credit side of their food ledger after nearly four years of war. Canada has sent during these years every particle of food she could possibly spare.

It has now become America's part to be the bread basket for the world. This means that America must save and stretch and produce foodstuffs as never before in all her history. It means that the shipping shortage should be considered carefully in saving certain foods and substituting others for home consumption. It means that the rail congestion should be thought of in the selection of those foods nearest at hand.

And above all, it means that every home with available land should produce enough garden foodstuffs this summer to feed itself and to can and store for the winter ahead. Every home should have a hoe and every member of the home should see to it that he has done his part in furnishing the family larder with garden produce.

The one advantage the poor man has is that he knows his friends like him for what he is and not for what he has.

Rub Youngsters' Colds Away With "Outside" Vapor Treatment

Local Druggists Have Imported the Invention of a North Carolina Druggist That Relieves Croup and Cold Troubles by External Application.

You Can Try a 25c Jar on 30 Days' Trial and Your Druggist Will Refund the Purchase Price if You Are Not Delighted with the Test.

Every mother breathes a sigh of relief when she first tries the North Carolina treatment, Vick's VapoRub, and finds that it is no longer necessary to "dose" the children with nauseous medicines for croup or cold troubles. VapoRub comes in salve form and when applied over the throat and chest the body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, all night long, carry the medication direct to the air passages and lungs. At the same time VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest.

VapoRub has a hundred uses in the home—for deep chest colds, sore throat, bronchitis or incipient pneumonia just apply well over the throat and chest and cover with a warm, flannel cloth. For head colds, hay fever, asthma or catarrhal troubles VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled. Croup is usually relieved within fifteen minutes and an application at bedtime prevents a night attack.

All mothers are urged to take advantage of the 30-day trial offer now being made by the local druggist and see for themselves just what VapoRub will do. -Advertisement

WHY WE MUST EAT LESS BREAD

The United States Food Administration is bending its energies particularly to the matter of saving wheat during the next few months.

Grain must go across the sea to our troops in France and to the allied nations with whom we are fighting against Germany, in vast quantities if the war is to go on.

Our surplus of wheat is exhausted and the people of the United States must save from their own supply at least 75,000,000 bushels to ship between now and the next harvest.

The simplest way to save is to stop using bread in the casual, general way to which we are accustomed.

Victory bread, substitute mixed bread, graham, whole wheat and what not in the way of breads are being recommended and recipes are being suggested for them.

All these are good and should be used when necessary but it is better still to cut down the daily consumption of bread and to eliminate the thoughtless habit of eating it to fill in idle moments at the table.

In England the public eating places of all types and degrees of expensiveness serve one slice with each meal. No more is to be had for any price.

In France, where bread made up more than 50 per cent of the entire amount of food eaten in pre-war days, the daily allowance is as pitifully small. The same holds true in Italy and in the latter country people are being denied the macaroni which in some sections has constituted the main article of diet.

To make matters worse over there, other foods are scarce as well as wheat.

In the United States, there is no lack of other food stuffs.

In order to save wheat for those who are in greater need of it than ourselves, the Food Administration has, for the time being, modified the restriction on meat. Hominy, rice, corn, beans and all manner of fresh vegetables are to be had in abundance. Potatoes are a bumper crop this year and are becoming so cheap that they are possible for any one who can buy bread.

We can no longer regard war as a popular excitement. We are in the grim and appalling reality of it now, engaged with the European nations. The daily casualty lists are beginning to bring that home to the most unfeeling. We must do our part in some way or be branded as a slacker nation.

One of the ways in which this country must strike at the enemy as directly as sending men and munitions is to keep up the food supply of those countries who are dependent on us for it.

Wheat is the need of the present; it is more, it is the necessity of the present.

Eat less bread.

ABOUT WINCHELL OF CAMP DIX

The following extracts from a letter from one of our boys at Camp Dix have been given to The Freeman.

Camp Dix, N. J. April 4

Just a few lines to the folks at home to let you know that Corporal James Edward Winchell is the jolly toe dancer instructor here in camp.

Winchell sure is a funny fellow. I guess everybody likes him here in camp. The other day when we were drilling, Winchell starts in to drill and began to whistle 'Nearer My God to Thee.' He saw all the fellows crying so he stopped. He even had the captain crying. Winchell also is one of the best singers we got here in the Three Hundred and Fifth. When Winchell goes home on a week-end he leaves the boys here in camp very blue and sad. He is always playing tricks on some of us fellows. The other day he played a good one on himself. He was playing with the water pipe when it hurtled on him. He was some wet too believe me. Once he got out of drilling. While we were drilling Winchell sat in the barracks drying his clothes. We sure had some fun with him afterward.

I hear the next bunch of boys comes down to camp. I guess we leave Camp Dix along about the 15th of April. It is nice down here now. But it is awful muddy. I haven't heard anyone say where we are going but I think we are going across the pond.

P. S.—Winchell just came in from a long walk. And he sends his best regards to all the people that live in Poughkeepsie.

GROWTH OF IMPROVED ROADS

Inventions, Discoveries and Public Improvements Come When There Is Strong Demand.

The history of good roads affords a striking example of the fact that inventions, discoveries and public improvements take place only when there is an insistent demand for them. In early times, when each family lived largely to itself, there was little commerce in the articles produced on the farm and consequently little need for transportation. As large cities developed the demand for roads on which products might be easily transported grew.

Two of the most recent causes for the improvement of roads have been pleasure vehicles. Twenty-five years ago the bicycle began to come into common use and the cyclists made a vigorous demand for roads on which they might ride. Unfortunately, however, paths for bicycles were constructed in many places in lieu of improved roads. The invention of the automobile, however, has meant a real step toward better roads.

That Was Why He Did Not See Children Thursday.

Oscar Humphrey was arrested Thursday evening on Broadway, near Thomas street, helplessly drunk. The arrest was made by Officer Hess. Oscar is a man advanced in years and is crippled and force to use a cane in walking. Sock Knitters Take Notice.

Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman of the knitting committee of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, when presenting the men who left for Camp Dix this morning, with their knitted outfits, noted, with regret that nearly all of the knitted socks were too short. There is no knitted article more appreciated or needed at the front especially, as also in the cantonments than the knitted socks according to the men themselves. Therefore Mrs. Hasbrouck asks that all who are now knitting socks, make them at least eleven inches long. And as many more who can, but are not now knitting socks, are urged to do so, remembering to make them eleven inches in length.

Miller's Orchestra at Roxbury.

On April second the basketball team of Roxbury High School gave a dance which was a climax to their most successful season in which they have lost only two games. S. championship trophies, and college and high school banners. Everyone was enthusiastic in their praise of the excellent music furnished by Miller's orchestra of Kingston. These musicians did themselves credit and have won fame along the Ulster and Delaware.

The past year's whitefish collection at the Put-in-Bay (O.) station of the United States bureau of fisheries was the largest in several years, yielding a total of approximately 500,000,000 eggs. The station was filled to its capacity and many eggs were shipped to Detroit, Duluth and Pennsylvania and New York state hatcheries.

FIRM WILL INVEST APRIL PROCEEDS IN U. S. BONDS

Among the most promising reports of co-operation by great industrial companies received by the Liberty Loan Committee in New York is a letter from the Todd Protectograph Company, whose factory and general offices are in Rochester. This company announces it has decided to invest the entire proceeds of its business for April in Liberty Bonds of the third issue. The officers expect they will be able to subscribe at least $500,000.

WITNESSES SAY GATES WERE UP

Many Testify That Gates Came Down on Trolley—Others Say Gates Were Lowered as Trolley Came Very Near Crossing.

Chester B. Roe, 61 years old, of 135 Prospect street, the motorman who was in charge of the Kingston City trolley car that on 6:32 o'clock of the morning of March 4 was struck at the Broadway crossing by the West Shore newspaper train, resulting in the death of three men and injuring fifteen, testified Thursday afternoon at the inquest held at the court house by Coroner Ernest A. Kelly to place the responsibility for the crash, that the gates were up until the trolley car came within about six feet of the railroad tracks.

He stated there were frieght cars on the siding.

Mr. Roe said that the trolley went about two feet on the railroad tracks before it stopped. He tried to stop it the minute he saw the gates coming down; he shut off the power and applied the brakes. Then came the crash and Roe did not remember anything else until he recovered consciousness, when men were helping him up.

He said that the trolley car was in good running order and that there had been no trouble with the brakes. When the car was struck, Policeman John G. Boyd was riding on the front platform. Boyd died later in the hospital.

Roe said that Boyd did not talk to him, only when he got on the car and said good morning. The trolley car was running not faster than eight miles an hour.

When he saw the gates lowering he tried his best to stop the trolley. He was right on the tracks before he saw the train. He thought the right hand gate struck the top of the car.

The testimony of most of the witnessed agreed on many points, namely, that the gates were either up entirely or were lowered when the trolley was within a very short distance of the tracks; that the train bell was not rung or the whistle blown as the train approached the crossing; that the trolley car was running slowly; and that the impact of the crash turned the trolley car right around.

Testimony of Mr. Gunther.

Philip Gunther, of 69 Greenkill avenue, corroborated the testimony given in the morning by Christian Melbert. Gunther and Melbert were coming down Broadway. As they passed the crossing they saw the train coming at a point below the curb at the freight house.

A moment later Melbert saw a trolley car coming up Broadway. There was no sign of the gatekeeper. Melbert said to Gunther: "Look, there comes a trolley car and the train is coming; where is the gate keeper?"

Melbert whistled twice at the motorman, who did not hear him. Motorman Roe shut off the power but had no time to reverse. A moment later the crash came.

The gate on the right hand side coming up, struck the vestibule of the car.

A piece of the gate went through the side of the trolley.

Townsend Heard Airbrakes.

Sylvanus Townsend of Hoffman street, said that he was on Greenkill avenue. He saw the train first about a thousand feet from the crossing. The train was coming about thirty miles an hour.

Just before he heard the crash he caught a glimpse of the trolley and heard the air brakes working on the train.

Townsend was the only witness who testified about hearing the air brakes.

Testimony of Fred Myers.

Fred Myers, of 185 Elmendorf street, testified he was walking down Broadway on the left hand side. He saw the train coming at about the same time as the trolley.

The train was making eighteen to twenty-five miles a hour. The trolley slowed up just before it got to the crossing and then picked up speed again.

As the train and trolley came near the crossing neither one slowed up very much.

The gates were up. An instant after the crash the downtown gates were lowered.

Some Pathetic Testimony.

There were tears in the eyes of many in the court room while Officer Frederick Fout told of how he picked Officer Boyd from the cowcatcher of the engine.

Officer Fout told in his own way of how he heard the crash while he was on his post and of the tragic conditions he found at the crossing.

Officer Fout said that the gate by the tower was broken on short and the gate on the other side (left hand side coming up) was broken two or three feet off the top.

Other Testimony Brought Out.

Motorman Roe was asked many questions. The substance of his testimony pertaining directly to the crash, was told in the first part of this story. Other facts brought out by his testimony were as follows.

He has been employed by the trolley company for twenty-five years and has a first-class record. He works an average of eleven hours a day.

The usual running speed of the trolleys is from eight to ten miles an hour.

The trolley company does not require any frequent physical examination test. "They just keep an eye on you," according to Motorman Roe.

On closed cars firemen and policemen in uniform and employes of the company are the only ones permitted to ride on the front platform. On open cars they must stand on the rear platform or take seats in the car.

No person is allowed to talk to the motorman.

Other Witnesses Called.

Three or four other witnesses were called. Two of these thought that the gates were not lowered until the trolley was almost on the railroad tracks.

At five o'clock the inquest was adjourned until April 23rd, at 10 a. m., at which time a number of other witnesses will be called.

The Appearances.

District Attorney Traver and Assistant District Attorney Hasbrouck appeared for the People. The district attorney questioned the witnesses.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly presided.

The city was represented by Mayor Canfield and Corporation Counsel William D Brinnier, Sr.

Van Etten and Cook appeared for the Webster family.

The Public Service Commission was represented by C. R. Barnes.

H. H. Downs chief claim agent for the New York Central Railroad, and T. A. Jones, claim agent, appeared for the railroad.

Be Above Gossip.

Gossiping is about the most useless kind of work one could possibly engage in. How much better and more charitable it is to turn a deaf ear to cruel truths, to honorably keep silent about what we have heard, and at the same time give the unfortunate person in the case the benefit of our doubt. "Small wits talk much," is an old saying and a true one. The girl or woman who would be truly happy, and who incidentally would make others happy, should wisely think twice before she speaks, and then should put into words only thoughts that are cheering and charitable.—New York Evening Mail.

The gate on the right hand side coming up, struck the vestibule of the car.

Three Boys Testify.

Daniel Fitzpatrick, Harold Christiana and Francis Martin, young boys, were waiting at the station to get papers from the train.

Christiana said that the train was coming fast. The trolley car was within ten feet of the railroad tracks when he first saw it. The gates came down on the car and the train crashed into the car.

Fitzpatrick said that the train was coming about twenty-five miles an hour. He did not see the trolley until it was on the railroad tracks. The gates were up at that time.

A second later the gates were lowered, the gate by the tower hitting the pole of the car.

Martin saw the train coming, but not the trolley car, and did not see the crash.

All three of the boys helped in the rescue work.

John Rock's Testimony.

The testimony of John Rock of 57 Pine Grove avenue, was the only testimony given stating definitely that the gates were down and that the trolley crashed in them.

Rock stood on the corner of Greenkill avenue and Broadway. He first saw the train about fifty feet south of the crossing, and the trolley twenty feet from the crossing.

At that time the uptown gates were not moving, and the downtown gates were just starting to come down.

According to Rock, Motorman Roe was looking at the brake. The trolley hit the gate, the gate catching under the edge of the roof of the vestibule of the car.

A piece of the gate went through the side of the trolley.

Townsend Heard Airbrakes.

Sylvanus Townsend of Hoffman street, said that he was on Greenkill avenue. He saw the train first about a thousand feet from the crossing. The train was coming about thirty miles an hour.

COMFORT KITS PRESENTED BOYS

43 of Our Boys Met at the Armory Thursday Afternoon When They Received Kits and Knitted Articles—Mayor Canfield Presented Kits.

Forty-three of our boys who left this morning for Camp Dix gathered Thursday afternoon at the state armory where after roll call they were presented with comfort kits by the Home Defence Committee and with a sweater and other knitted articles by the local Red Cross. The boys were addressed by Lieutenant Joseph M. Fowler, of the Home Service Section of the Home Defence Committee, who called the attention of the boys to the war insurance and family allotments, Secretary Thornberry, of the Y. M. C. A., who told the boys of the Y M C. A., and K of C. huts where they would be gladly welcomed, and by Corporal Lunard, who is here on recruiting duty.

The armory presented a busy scene that afternoon as Mrs. G. D B. Hasbrouck and Mrs. Charles R. Hall, of the Red Cross, handed out the knitted articles to the boys who tried on the sweaters, finding one to fit comfortably. The Red Cross in addition to the sweater presented each boy with a helmet, two pair of socks, a pair of wristlets and one scarf, and the boys tried on everything except the socks.

In Charge of Boys.

Herman I DuBois was appointed in charge of the boys from Division No 1, which number thirty husky young chaps, and the increment was divided up into four squads in charge of Rufus Van Etten Whitney, Edward L Butler, Thomas B Richardson and Judson Barrett

George A Hoyt, of West Hurley, was selected to have charge of Division No. 2, which numbers 13 boys who entrained from here this morning.

Captain Hornbeck of Division No. 1 gave the boys of the division full instructions regarding entraining this morning and what they were expected to do. And the same instructions were given the boys of Division No. 2 by the members of the division board.

Need of Insurance.

Lieutenant Joseph M. Fowler was introduced to the boys by Captain Everett Fowler who had the pleasure of introducing the speakers of the afternoon. Lieutenant Fowler spoke of the need of the boys taking out war insurance as a protection to their relatives at home, and stated that any legal service the boys needed all they had to do would be to write a letter to the local Red Cross and it would be turned over to the Home Service Section of the Home Defence Committee, who were looking after and guarding the interests and rights of those left behind.

Lieutenant Fowler's brief remarks were greeted with hearty applause.

Corporal Lunard Speaks.

Captain Fowler, then introduced Corporal Lunard, who is here on recruiting duty, and in a brief three minutes the corporal delivered the kind of speech the boys like to hear War is a man's job, said he, and the boys did not want to get the impression that they were going over to be shot, but that they were going over to shoot and shoot straight The Huns would be shown by our boys just what an American fighting man was, and the job that the American boys wanted above all else was to get the kaiser Cheers stamping of feet and clapping of hands and cries of "You bet" and "That's right" greeted the close of the corporal's remarks.

Secretary Thornberry Invited Boys.

Secretary Thornberry, of the local Y. M C A., in a brief talk called the attention of the boys to the welcome they would receive at the Y. M. C A. huts and K. of C huts which they would find in all camps. Mr. Thornberry's remarks were greeted with applause.

The Mayor Spoke.

Mayor Canfield was then introduced by Captain Fowler and made the presentation address The mayor in an eloquent address inspired the boys with the thought that while they were away at the front yet they would not be forgotten by the folks back home. It was an honor to be a fighting man at this time, and while we all wished the war would cease we did not want it to cease until the Huns were whipped.

The mayor's remarks were greeted with applause.

Following the presentation of the comfort kits the boys left for their homes to spend the last night with dear ones for some time at least. The entire increment are a bunch of husky young men, and there is no question but they will make their presence felt and felt hard if ever they get a chance to go over the top over there.

HAROLD PARKES.

U S S. Sampson, a brother of Mrs. Robert Freer of Stone Ridge. He writes in his letter to Mrs. Freer that he is enjoying life in Sunny France and has seen quite some of the world since he joined the U S navy.

At Benedictine Sanitarium.

John Tuttle of New Kingston was brought to this city on the U. & D train Thursday evening and taken to the office of Dr. Van Wagenen on John street in the city ambulance, where an X-ray photo was taken and later he was removed to the Benedictine Sanitarium.

WHERE ALLIED LOANS GO.

Some people are under the impression that the money which Uncle Sam is lending to the Allies leaves America for expenditure in Europe and other foreign countries.

This is a mistaken idea. Virtually all of it is expended right here at home for American produced goods, munitions, and foodstuffs Since the declaration of war against Germany on April 6, 1917, Congress has authorized the lending of $7,000,000,000 to the Allies, to be paid over before July 1 1918. Up to November 1 the Allies had received advances aggregating $3,691,400,000. They had expended in America for supplies $2,775,900,000, and had remaining to their credit in the United States treasury a balance of $932,500,000.

From April to November the Allies had been borrowing from Uncle Sam at the rate of approximately $500,000,000 a month. And they had been spending it with us almost as rapidly as they got it. Thus the money which you put into Liberty Bonds a few two preceding campaigns has been trickling back through the channels of commerce in an uninterrupted stream. Every dollar you put into Liberty Bonds is an added stimulus to American industry and American prosperity.

WHERE ALLIED LOANS GO.

Some people are under the impression that the money which Uncle Sam is lending to the Allies leaves America for expenditure in Europe and other foreign countries.

This is a mistaken idea. Virtually all of it is expended right here at home for American produced goods, munitions, and foodstuffs. Since the declaration of war against Germany on April 6, 1917, Congress has authorized the lending of $7,000,000,000 to the Allies, to be paid over before July 1, 1918. Up to November 1 the Allies had received advances aggregating $3,691,400,000. They had expended in America for supplies $2,758,900,000, and had remaining to their credit in the United States treasury a balance of $932,500,000.

From April to November the Allies had been borrowing from Uncle Sam at the rate of approximately $500,000,000 a month. And they had been spending it with us almost as rapidly as they got it. Thus the money which you put into Liberty Bonds in the two preceding campaigns has been trickling back through the channels of commerce in an uninterrupted stream. Every dollar you put into Liberty Bonds is an added stimulus to American industry and American prosperity.

COMFORT KITS PRESENTED BOYS

48 of Our Boys Met at the Armory Thursday Afternoon When They Received Kits and Knitted Articles—Mayor Canfield Presented Kits.

Forty-three of our boys who left this morning for Camp Dix gathered Thursday afternoon at the state armory where after roll call they were presented with comfort kits by the Home Defence Committee and with a sweater and other knitted articles by the local Red Cross. The boys were addressed by Lieutenant Joseph M. Fowler, of the Home Service Section of the Home Defence Committee, who called the attention of the boys to the war insurance and family allotments, Secretary Thornberry, of the Y. M. C. A., who told the boys of the Y. M. C. A., and K. of C. huts where they would be gladly welcomed, and by Corporal Lunard, who is here on recruiting duty.

The armory presented a busy scene that afternoon as Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck and Mrs. Charles R. Hall, of the Red Cross, handed out the knitted articles to the boys who tried on the sweaters, finding one to fit comfortably. The Red Cross in addition to the sweater presented each boy with a helmet, two pair of socks, a pair of wristlets and one scarf, and the boys tried on everything except the socks.

In Charge of Boys.

Herman I. DuBois was appointed in charge of the boys from Division No. 1, which number thirty husky young chaps, and the increment was divided up into four squads in charge of Rufus Van Etten Whitney, Edward L. Butler, Thomas B. Richardson and Judson Barrett.

George A. Hoyt, of West Hurley, was selected to have charge of Division No. 2, which numbers 13 boys who entrained from here this morning.

Captain Hornbeck of Division No. 1 gave the boys of the division full instructions regarding entraining this morning and what they were expected to do. And the same instructions were given the boys of Division No. 2 by the members of the division board.

Need of Insurance.

Lieutenant Joseph M. Fowler was introduced to the boys by Captain Everett Fowler, who had the pleasure of introducing the speakers of the afternoon. Lieutenant Fowler spoke of the need of the boys taking out war insurance as a protection to their relatives at home, and stated that any legal service the boys needed all they had to do would be to write a letter to the local Red Cross and it would be turned over to the Home Service Section of the Home Defence Committee, who were looking after and guarding the interests and rights of those left behind.

Lieutenant Fowler's brief remarks were greeted with hearty applause.

Corporal Lunard Speaks.

Captain Fowler then introduced Corporal Lunard, who is here on recruiting duty, and in a brief three minutes the corporal delivered the kind of speech the boys like to hear. War is a man's job, said he, and the boys did not want to get the impression that they were going over to be shot, but that they were going over to shoot and shoot straight. The Huns would be shown by our boys just what an American fighting man was, and the job that the American boys wanted above all else was to get the kaiser. Cheers, stamping of feet and clapping of hands and cries of "You bet" and "That's right" greeted the close of the corporal's remarks.

Secretary Thornberry Invited Boys.

Secretary Thornberry, of the local Y. M. C. A., in a brief talk called the attention of the boys to the welcome they would receive at the Y. M. C. A. huts and K. of C. huts which they would find in all camps. Mr. Thornberry's remarks were greeted with applause.

The Mayor Spoke.

Mayor Canfield was then introduced by Captain Fowler and made the presentation address. The mayor in an eloquent address inspired the boys with the thought that while they were away at the front yet they would not be forgotten by the folks back home. It was an honor to be a fighting man at this time, and while we all wished the war would cease we did not want it to cease until the Huns were whipped.

The mayor's remarks were greeted with applause.

Following the presentation of the comfort kits the boys left for their homes to spend the last night with dear ones for some time at least. The entire increment are a bunch of husky young men, and there is no question but they will make their presence felt and felt hard if ever they get a chance to go over the top over there.

COURT FINDS 2 MORE NAMES THAN NEEDED

Judge Hasbrouck Strikes 186 Names From Local Option Petition But Finds Two More are Legal Than are Needed To Hold Election.

Judge Hasbrouck has decided the objections to the petition for a special election on April 16 to vote on the local option questions, finding that 186 names must be stricken off the petition, leaving just two more names than are required by law, so that the objections except as he has stated are overruled and the special election will be held.

The number of signatures needed in order to hold the special election is 1,418. Judge Hasbrouck strikes off 186 names as illegal, which leaves 1,420 legal signatures to the petition or two more than are needed in order to hold the special election.

The 186 names which Judge Hasbrouck strikes from the petition are made up as follows.

170 that bear no legal date.
27 withdrawn at request of the signers.
25 that were taken on Sunday.
3 that were not legally verified.
1 who is not a qualified voter.

His Decision.

Judge Hasbrouck's decision in full is as follows:

Supreme Court, County of Ulster.—In the Matter of the Objections of John F. Irwin to the petition for the submission of the Local Option questions to the Electors of the City of Kingston.

F. W. Brooks, Esq., Attorney for John F. Irwin.

Alfred D. Van Buren, Esq., Attorney for Petitioner.

Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, of counsel.

1—I find that the whole number of voters cast in the city of Kingston at the general election held in 1917 was 7,872 and that 25 per centum thereof is 1,418.

2—I find that the number of names attached to the petition for submission of the local option questions in this city is 1,606.

3—I find that there are 170 names on said petition at the right of which there is no such legal date set as is required by the statutes. See Sec. 8, Article 2 Chapter 624, Laws of 1917.

4—I find that there are 3 signatures upon a petition where a statement at the bottom of the sheet has been signed by a duly qualified elector but not sworn to before a Notary Public as required by sub-division 2 of Section 8 of Chapter 624, Laws of 1917.

6—I find that S. Israel is not a qualified voter.

7—I find that the names of Rufus Kelder, Wm. N. Fessenden and O. H. Hill, not having been signed on Sunday, no justification exists for withdrawing their names from the petition.

8—I find the signatures by a cross of illiterates to be properly made and authenticated.

9—I find no incomplete addresses and no illegible or indecipherable signatures except one which has been stricken out as not followed by a proper date.

10—I find that the whole number of invalid and illegal signatures amounts to 186 and that the petition contains 1,420 valid signatures.

Matters of Law.

1—That the ditto marks used in the petition to indicate street addresses or dates are lawfully used.

2—I find that the venues reading "State of New York, County of New York, City of Ulster," susceptible as appearing upon the papers to be read "State of New York, County of Ulster," and therefore legal.

3—The objections to the petition are overruled except as found in the facts above stated.

The objections to the petition which I have sustained do not amount in signatures enough to destroy the petition.

BRITISH REPULSE HEAVY ASSAULTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 5.—Heavy German assaults along a sixteen mile front between the Somme and Avre rivers, broke the stagnation that had lasted for several days in the great world battle in Picardy.

Press advices from the front today said that the fighting was continuing with violence.

Both the British and French were compelled to give some ground in the region east and southeast of Amiens, but the German advance was trifling.

The German attacks were delivered after a severe bombardment from heavy German guns which had been moved to the front.

The Germans paid heavily for the small amount of ground gained. The massed field gray columns were mowed down in heaps by the British and French artillery and the muddy field of battle over which the men struggled was littered with dead and wounded.

Field Marshal Haig, the British commander-in-chief, described the renewal of the German attacks in his official despatches last night as follows:

"The enemy launched a heavy attack Thursday morning on the whole front between the Somme and Avre rivers. It was preceded by a violent bombardment. On our right and center the German infantry were repulsed, but on our left the assault succeeded in pressing back our troops for a short distance in the neighborhood of Hamel.

"The fighting in this area is continuing."

Hamel lies on the southern bank of the Somme, between ten and eleven miles due east of Amiens. This is now the vital area of the battle as the Germans are exerting tremendous pressure in their frontal attacks against the British defences of their base.)

South of the Hamel sector, where the Germans had been heavily shelling the French positions the infantry operations were renewed on a big scale and when the Thursday night report of the French war office was issued it was continuing with unabated violence.

The French communique characterized the fresh action as one of "extreme violence."

It is in this region that the British and French armies join and the renewal of the German pressure there is confirmatory of the predictions of military experts as to the objectives of the German high command:

1—The breaking of the juncture between the two armies.

2—The cutting of the Paris-Amiens-Calais railway.

3—The capture of Amiens itself.

"From Grivesnes as far north of the road between Amiens and Roye, the Germans attacked with enormous forces, showing a firm determination to break through our front at any cost," said the French war office.

"Up to the present we have identified prisoners from eleven different army divisions. Our troops with intrepid courage resisted the shock of the attacking masses that were mowed down by our artillery fire. Despite their efforts, ten times repeated, the Germans succeeded at the cost of heavy sacrifices, in gaining a few hundred metres of terrain and occupying the villages of Mailly-Raineval and Meriesl. We hold the neighboring heights."

(The Germans must have employed at least 132,000 troops against the French alone as a German division is now estimated to contain 12,000 bayonets.)

The Germans made a desperate effort to fight their way into Grivesnes but were thrown back by the brilliant resistance of the French defenders.

It was significant that the German war office was modest in its claims. The official report issued in Berlin last night said:

"During the continuation of our attack south of the Somme fresh successes have been won."

The zone in which the battle storm has broken out afresh lies at the apex of the German salient.

During the lull in the battle both sides realigned their forces. The Germans had many shattered divisions to reform and the Allies took occasion to move their reserves closer to the menaced positions and to strengthen their defensive works.

The bad weather which prevailed during the period of quietude continues and the fighting on Thursday took place under low hanging storm clouds and amidst fitful bursts of rain.

The aviators were active on both sides, despite the mist, and at times there were thrilling battles high in the sky above the struggling armies.

A number of American flyers are on this front and are taking part in the aerial operations.

CLERGY APPROVE WILSON'S POLICY

M. E. Conference in Newburgh Send Strong Approval to President for Stand Taken in War—Patriotism Was Uppermost.

Patriotism was uppermost in the New York conference of the Methodist ministers in St. John's Church in Newburgh Thursday, and culminated in a message to President Wilson endorsing his action and expressing the approval of the stand he has taken in the conduct of the war. It was a strong resolution offered by the Rev. Christian F. Reisner of Grace Church, New York, and expresses the sentiment of the ministers in conference assembled.

The Rev. Mr. Miller, representing the Anti-Saloon League, spoke to the conference on the subject of Sabbath observance and referred to the action of the assembly in approving Sunday moving pictures, at the next day morning session.

A resolution endorsing the "Advocate" which is considered official organ of Methodism, was adopted and Bishop Wilson spoke a word in praise of the publication.

The six-hour hour of the Thursday morning session was given over to memorials to those who have died the past year. That afternoon a number of committees and boards held sessions. In the evening an illustrated lecture was given.

COURT FINDS 2 MORE NAMES THAN NEEDED

Judge Hasbrouck Strikes 186 Names From Local Option Petition But Finds Two More are Legal Than are Needed To Hold Election.

Judge Hasbrouck has decided the objections to the petition for a special election on April 16 to vote on the local option questions, finding that 186 names must be stricken off but the petition contains just two more names than are required by law, so that the objections except as he has stated are overruled and the special election will be held.

The number of signatures needed in order to hold the special election is 1,418. Judge Hasbrouck strikes off 186 names as illegal, which leaves 1,420 legal signatures to the petition, or two more than are needed in order to hold the special election.

The 186 names which Judge Hasbrouck strikes from the petition are made up as follows:

130 that bear no legal date.
27 withdrawn at request of the signers.
25 that were taken on Sunday.
3 that were not legally verified.
1 who is not a qualified voter.

His Decision.

Judge Hasbrouck's decision in full is as follows:

Supreme Court, County of Ulster.—In the Matter of the Objections of John F. Irwin to the petition for the submission of the Local Option questions to the Electors of the City of Kingston.

F. W. Brooks, Esq., Attorney for John F. Irwin.

Alfred D. Van Buren, Esq., Attorney for Petitioner.

Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, of counsel.

1—I find that the whole number of votes cast in the city of Kingston at the general election held in 1917 was 5,672 and that 25 per centum thereof is 1,418.

2—I find that the number of names attached to the petition for submission of the local option questions in this city is 1,606.

3—I find that there are 130 names on said petition at the right of which there is no such legal date set as is required by the statutes. See Sec. 8, Article 2, Chapter 624, Laws of 1917.

4—I find that there are 3 signatures upon a petition where a statement at the bottom of the sheet has been signed by a duly qualified elector but not sworn to before a Notary Public as required by sub-division 2 of Section 8 of Chapter 624, Laws of 1917.

6—I find that S. Israel is not a qualified voter.

7—I find that the names of Rufus Kelder, Wm. N. Fessenden and O. H. Hill, not having been signed on Sunday, no justification exists for withdrawing their names from the petition.

8—I find the signatures by a cross of illiterates to be properly made and authenticated.

9—I find no incomplete addresses and no illegible or indecipherable signatures except one which has been stricken out as not followed by a proper date.

10—I find that the whole number of invalid and illegal signatures amounts to 186 and that the petition constains 1,420 valid signatures.

Matters of Law.

1—That the ditto marks used in the petition to indicate street addresses or dates are lawfully used.

2—I find that the venues reading, "State of New York, County of New York, City of Ulster," susceptible as appearing upon the papers to be read "State of New York, County of Ulster," and therefore legal.

3—The objections to the petition are overruled except as found in the facts above stated.

The objections to the petition which I have sustained do not amount in signatures enough to destroy the petition.

BRITISH REPULSE HEAVY ASSAULTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 5.—Heavy German assaults along a sixteen mile front between the Somme and Avre rivers, broke the stagnation that had lasted for several days in the great world battle in Picardy.

Press advices from the front today said that the fighting was continuing with violence.

Both the British and French were compelled to give some ground in the region east and southeast of Amiens, but the German advance was trifling.

The German attacks were delivered after a severe bombardment from heavy German guns which had been moved to the front.

The Germans paid heavily for the small amount of ground gained. The massed field gray columns were mowed down in heaps by the British and French artillery and the muddy field of battle over which the men struggled was littered with dead and wounded.

Field Marshal Haig, the British commander-in-chief, described the renewal of the German attacks in his official despatches last night as follows:

"The enemy launched a heavy attack Thursday morning on the whole front between the Somme and Avre rivers. It was preceded by a violent bombardment. On our right and center the German infantry were repulsed, but on our left the assault succeeded in pressing back our troops for a short distance in the neighborhood of Hamel.

"The fighting in this area is continuing."

(Hamil lies on the southern bank of the Somme river, between ten and eleven miles due east of Amiens. This is now the vital area of the battle as the Germans are exerting tremendous pressure in their frontal attacks against the British defences of their base.)

South of the Hamel sector, where the Germans had been heavily shelling the French positions the infantry operations were renewed on a big scale and when the Thursday night report of the French war office was issued it was continuing with unabated violence.

It is in this region that the British and French armies join and the renewal of the German pressure there is confirmatory of the predictions of military experts as to the objectives of the German high command:

1—The breaking of the juncture between the two armies.

2—The cutting of the Paris-Amiens-Calais railway.

3—The capture of Amiens itself.

"From Grivesnes as far north of the road between Amiens and Roye, the Germans attacked with enormous forces, showing a firm determination to break through our front at any cost," said the French war office.

"Up to the present we have identified prisoners from eleven different army divisions. Our troops with intrepid courage resisted the shock of the attacking masses that were mowed down by our artillery fire. Despite their efforts, ten times repeated, the Germans succeeded at the cost of heavy sacrifices, in gaining a few hundred metres of terrain and occupying the villages of Mailly-Raineval and Morisel. We hold the neighboring heights."

(The Germans must have employed at least 132,000 troops against the French alone as a German division is now estimated to contain 12,000 bayonets.)

The Germans made a desperate effort to fight their way into Grivesnes but were thrown back by the brilliant resistance of the French defenders.

It was significant that the German war office was modest in its claims. The official report issued in Berlin last night said:

"During the continuation of our attack south of the Somme fresh successes have been won."

The zone in which the battle storm has broken out afresh lies at the apex of the German salient.

During the lull in the battle both sides realigned their forces. The Germans had many shattered divisions to reform and the Allies took occasion to move their reserves closer to the menaced positions and to strengthen their defensive works.

The bad weather which prevailed during the period of quietude continues and the fighting on Thursday took place under low hanging storm clouds and amidst fitful bursts of rain.

The aviators were active on both sides, despite the mist, and at times there were thrilling battles high in the sky above the struggling armies.

A number of American flyers are on this front and are taking part in the aerial operations.

Both Premier Lloyd-George and Premier Clemenceau have visited the front and both were deeply impressed by the courage and calm confidence of the Allied forces from the commanding generals down to the privates. LATEST ARTCRAFT PICTURE PICTURE—WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT "STELLA MARIS"

Mary Pickford's tremendous drawing power with the public is doubled in this production, as her interpretation of two separate and distinct parts, each one of stellar proportions, presents her artistry as effectively as if she had appeared in two different photoplays. The supporting cast is exceptionally strong, headed by Conway Tearle, a popular favorite. Also a patriotic motion picture showing how Uncle Sam gets there first "OVER THE ROADS TO WAR."

NO SIX-CENT FARE IN KINGSTON

Court of Appeals Decides, in Rochester Case, That Agreement With City is Binding.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, April 5.—The Public Service Commission has no authority under the present law to increase street railway fares in cities where there is a specific agreement between the city and the street railway company. In a sweeping decision handed down this afternoon the court of appeals so held.

The decision which was by a five to three vote of the court was in the Rochester case. The city contended that five cents had been fixed as the maximum fare and sought a writ of prohibition to restrain the Public Service Commission from hearing the application for granting an increase to six cents. The lower courts refused to grant the writ but the highest court of the state today reversed them and ordered an absolute writ of prohibition granted to the city of Rochester.

The gist of the opinion, which was written by Judge Cuthbert W. Pounds, is to the effect that where a municipality and a street railway corporation have agreed in the first instance to fix the fare at five cents, that agreement is binding.

WOMEN TURNED OUT STRONG TODAY

At the Polling Places to Register For the Election April 16—Polls Remain Open Until 10 Tonight—Saturday Last Day.

If any one had the least idea that the women in Kingston would not take much interest in their right to vote they had a surprise coming when it was seen that the women were turning out strong, and wonder of wonders hardly a case was reported where a woman hesitated in giving her age to the inspectors engaged in registering the new voters.

The city hall presented the liveliest scene in years for the downstairs corridor was filled with many women anxious to register and at 10 o'clock this morning fifty had registered. This number would have been larger but the women had been out on the streets earlier in the morning to see the boys off to Camp Dix. In this ward alone there over 900 women voters.

In the First ward there are over 1,100 women voters and politicians and others are wondering how the vote is going to be handled on April 16 provided all of the women voters turn out and vote. In the First ward alone if all vote who can vote there will be nearly if not more than 2,000 votes to handle by the election officials in one day.

The polls will be open until 10 o'clock this evening for the women to register and Saturday will be the last day, the polls being open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, April 5.—At a meeting of the ladies of the different church and other societies, two from each society, held at the Red Cross rooms Wednesday evening, Miss Lillian M Stuart, the agent of Ulster County Food Conservation, with headquarters at Kingston, was present and gave a very excellent talk. With a view to organizing and deciding upon a plan of work for the ladies of Ellenville, it was decided to hold a mass meeting on the evening of Friday, April 26, and the subject would be a demonstration of food, with slides and Miss Stuart would be present and deliver the lecture, and there would be other features of entertainment to be announced later. And on the day following, in the afternoon, Miss Stuart would give a demonstration on war breads. The ladies representing the different societies agreed to give at least ten minutes of the meetings held from time to time upon the subject of food conservation, a matter so vital to all at this time. Mrs. H. B. Dutcher was chairman of the meeting and with a committee of ladies appointed, will go forward to arrange for the mass meeting which will meet with hearty co-operation. Ellenville people are desirous of being in the front line along all lines in which it is possible to engage, to do their bit in this the time when war times is certainly the serious question of the day.

The April meeting of the Musical Club was held in the Hunt Memorial Hall Thursday afternoon. The very interesting program as arranged under the direction of Miss A. E. Cox in the absence of Mrs. Frank B. Cox. It was a program for the children especially, but each member was privileged to invite one other, as a guest, so with the grown-ups and children and members of the club there was a large attendance. Following the opening chorus, "The Star Spangled Banner," Mrs. George H. Smith read a very interesting letter from her sister, Miss Nell K. McElhone, who is in the war service in France. Following Mrs. E. B. Kimble and Mrs. J. W. Rapp contributed the National Hymn of France. At the close of this part of the program, Miss Cox gave a very earnest talk on the third Liberty Loan that is to go forward and this received merited applause. The second part of the program was especially arranged for the children and given by the grown-ups. The members of the club contributed special features for the humorous entertainment so much enjoyed by all and to have been privileged to see it one could best describe it. There were Mother Goose rhymes sung and recited, and Mrs. Horton, president of the club, gave two of Eugene Field's poems for children which grownups enjoyed quite as well. One of the special features was the singing of the A B C by three club members answering to roll call. It was an hour or more of splendid enjoyment and thanks are certainly due Miss Cox, as leader, and all taking part in the program so very well arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Hoornbeck are spending a few weeks at Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Ellsworth daughter of New York, are visiting at the Ellsworth home on Canal street.

The Misses Helen Gaskell of Monticello and Bernice Gaskell of New Jersey are spending the Easter vacation at their home on Canal street.

Miss Sarah Wood of the Suffern schools, has been spending the week with her aunt, Miss May Budd, at the Mackey home.

George Newman and daughter of Brooklyn, have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Newman, on Canal street.

At a meeting of the board of trustees the board granted the new village judge, Frank B. Cox, a leave of absence of 45 days on a business trip to California. During his absence Mr. Fitzgerald, one of the justices of the town of Wawarsing, will have charge of the office.

Arch Freer has been appointed chief of police in place of Martin Deschler and will assume his duties May 1st.

The Eastern Star evening of games will be held on Tuesday evening next at the pleasant rooms of Wawarsing Chapter and following the games the ladies will serve refreshments.

"The Marriage of the Midgets" will be given by the local little folks, under trained teachers, for the benefit of the Red Cross, at Norbury Hall Tuesday evening next. Parents are urged to attend and bring the children to see the very pleasant evening performance.

A TWENTIETH CENTURY PAUL REVERE.

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of another rider than Paul Revere;
Of a tiny lad on a strange, strange steed,
Who rode a race for his country's need.
He heard of his country's call for men;
He heard of their sacrifice, and then—
He heard of the need for money, too;
For food and clothes to help them through.
He wanted to help, though he could not fight;
He wanted to serve in the cause of right.
So he mounted a Thrift Card, reins in hand,
And rode and rode throughout the land.
"Money!" he cried, "money for clothes!"
"The boys in the trenches"—off he goes;
And 'mid the sound of clattering hoofs
The call reechoed across the roofs—
"Gather your nickels! Gather your dimes!
Help the nation! Prepare, these times!"
The people heard, as the boy flashed by,
They heard his fevered, earnest cry.
And out of the stockings laid away,
And out of the closets hid from day,
They gathered their savings of many years,
And poured them forth with hearty cheers.
"Take these!" they cried, "in the cause of right,
We'll save for the boys who nobly fight!"
As on he sped, he heard them say,
"We'll do our bit—save every day."
And when the boy on his valiant steed
Had spread the call of his country's need
He drew the reins on old "Thrift Stamp,"
And petted his nose, all sweaty and damp;
"Our work is done," he said, "old, man,
The nation's roused to the War-Thrift Plan."

A Grass Fire.

At midnight Thursday the fire department was called to West Chestnut street by a grass fire in the rear of Montrepose avenue.

Fire this noon slightly damaged the rear porch of the residence of A. A. Davis, 22 Elmendorf street. The blaze started in some refuse under the porch and is thought to have been caused by little Arthur Davis, 3 years old, playing with matches. The firemen respondd to a call from Box 74, corner of Broadway and Elmendorf street.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, April 5.—At a meeting of the ladies of the different church and other societies, two from each society, held at the Red Cross rooms Wednesday evening, Miss Lillian M. Stuart, the agent of Ulster County Food Conservation, with headquarters at Kingston, was present and gave a very excellent talk. With a view to organizing and deciding upon a plan of work for the ladies of Ellenville, it was decided to hold a mass meeting on the evening of Friday, April 26, and the subject would be a demonstration of food, with slides, and Miss Stuart would be present and deliver the lecture, and there would be other features of entertainment to be announced later. And on the day following, in the afternoon, Miss Stuart would give a demonstration on war breads. The ladies representing the different societies agreed to give at least ten minutes of the meetings held from time to time upon the subject of food conservation, a matter so vital to all at this time. Mrs. H. B. Dutcher was chairman of the meeting and with a committee of ladies appointed, will go forward to arrange for the mass meeting which will meet with hearty co-operation. Ellenville people are desirous of being in the front line along all lines in which it is possible to engage, to do their bit in this the time when war times is certainly the serious question of the day.

The April meeting of the Musical Club was held in the Hunt Memorial Hall Thursday afternoon. The very interesting program as arranged under the direction of Miss A. E. Cox in the absence of Mrs. Frank B. Cox. It was a program for the children especially, but each member was privileged to invite one other, as a guest, so with the grown-ups and children and members of the club there was a large attendance. Following the opening chorus, "The Star Spangled Banner," Mrs. George H. Smith read a very interesting letter from her sister, Miss Nell K. McElhone, who is in the war service in France. Following Mrs. E. B. Kimble and Mrs. J. W. Rapp contributed the National Hymn of France. At the close of this part of the program, Miss Cox gave a very earnest talk on the third Liberty Loan that is to go forward and this received merited applause. The secod part of the program was especially arranged for the children and given by the grown-ups. The members of the club contributed special features for the humorous entertainment so much enjoyed by all and to have been privileged to see it one could best describe it. There were Mother Goose rhymes sung and recited, and Mrs. Horton, president of the club, gave two of Eugene Field's poems for children which grownups enjoyed quite as well. One of the special features was the singing of the A B C by three club members answering to roll call. It was an hour or more of splendid enjoyment and thanks are certainly due Miss Cox, as leader, and all taking part in the program so very well arranged.

A TWENTIETH CENTURY PAUL REVERE.

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of another rider than Paul Revere;
Of a tiny lad on a strange, strange steed,
Who rode a race for his country's need.
He heard of his country's call for men;
He heard of their sacrifice, and then—
He heard of the need for money, too;
For food and clothes to help them through.
He wanted to help, though he could not fight;
He wanted to serve in the cause of right.
So he mounted a Thrift Card, reins in hand,
And rode and rode throughout the land.
"Money!" he cried, "money for clothes!"
"The boys in the trenches"—off he goes;
And 'mid the sound of clattering hoofs
The call reechoed across the roofs—
"Gather your nickels! Gather your dimes!
Help the nation! Prepare, these times!"
The people heard, as the boy flashed by,
They heard his fevered, earnest cry,
And out of the stockings laid away,
And out of the closets hid from day,
They gathered their savings of many years,
And poured them forth with hearty cheers.
"Take these!" they cried, "in the cause of right,
We'll save for the boys who nobly fight!"
As on he sped, he heard them say,
"We'll do our bit—save every day."
And when the boy on his valiant steed
Had spread the call of his country's need
He drew the reins on old "Thrift Stamp,"
And petted his nose, all sweaty and damp;
"Our work is done," he said, "old, man,
The nation's roused to the War-Thrift Plan."

A Grass Fire.

U. S. TO TAKE OVER TELEGRAPH LINERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 5.—The first step in taking over the telegraph and cable companies of the United States was foreshadowed today it is believed, when the Interstate Commerce Commission formally ordered a sweeping investigation into forty-three companies.

Net and gross earnings of any of the corporation and the expenditure of all moneys and the purposes for which they were expended and any other transactions which may give any intimation as to the present value of their property, its cost and the history of the corporations and the acquisition of property now owned will be thoroughly investigated according to the order.

SOCIETY NOTES.

D. A. R. Hear Violin Recital.

There was a large attendance of the members of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R. at the April meeting held at the Chapter House on Thursday afternoon. During the business session it was voted that the Chapter should buy a Liberty Bond, at the coming May drive. All members of the chapter wishing to contribute to the purchase of such a bond for the chapter, are asked to send their contributions to Mrs. Henry Van Hoevenberg before May first. The chapter was presented with a handsome antique octagonal wall clock, owned by Harry Hudler, uncle of Mrs. William Frey, who presented the clock, which was received with expressions of gratitude and appreciation.

Mrs. DeWitt Roosa and Mrs. A. T. Clearwater had charge of the program and were also the hostesses of the afternoon.

The program, which was hugely enjoyed by every one present and especially by the music lovers, was in the nature of a violin recital, the soloist being Ford Hummel, with Mrs. Hummel at the piano. The numbers played, and each seemingly more enjoyed than its predecessor, were:

Sonata, A Major........ .Handel
Concerto, No. 8.......... De Beriot
Meditation (Thais) .... .Massenet
Rondino .... Kreisler
Minuet in F .... Handel
Slavonic Cradle Song.......Neruda
Second Concerto .... Wieniawaski
Nightingale (Russian) . .Vieutemps
Polish Dance . .. Wieniawaski

This exceedingly artistic and musicianly program was followed by the serving of such light refreshments as are still permissible in war times.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 5.—There was pressure against the stock market at the opening today, causing declines ranging from fractions to about one point all through the list, with the lower levels attributed to a renewed disposition to wait for favorable news from the battle front. There was some liquidation of speculative lines taken on in the last few days. Most of the selling was by room traders who were prominent buyers in the early trading yesterday. Steel Common yielded ½ to 89⅞, and most of the other steel industrials showed fractional losses. Union Pacific was ¾ lower at 119 and Central Leather yielded ⅞ to 66¼. General Motors opened ⅝ higher at 121 and then dropped to 118⅞ and Mexican Petroleum yielded nearly one point to 93¼.

The market was dull again soon after the opening but a steadier tone developed and some issues made rallies to about one point from the low level. There was a general absence of speculative interest except in a couple of specialties. Marine Preferred on quiet accumulation rallied nearly one point to 92¾. Atlantic Gulf was in supply selling down over 1 point to 108½. American Telephone yielded ¾ to 99½, and General Motors which opened at 123 fell to 118½. There were fractional losses in several of the copper stocks. Bonds were steady. Liberty 4's were traded in at 96.40 while the 3½'s were traded in at 98.90.

The market was extremely dull during the afternoon. American Sumatra Tobacco was exceptionally weak, dropping 1⅝ to 96 and Marine Pfd. fell ⅝ to 92⅛. Distillers moved up one point to 40¾. Steel Common held steady around 90. Liberty Bonds were slightly lower, the 3½'s declining to 98.80, and the second 4's to 96.32.

The market was extremely dull in late dealing today. Steel Common sold around 90. There was little change shown by the other leading issues. Distillers was strong, moving up from a low of 39⅝ to 41¼.

OVER THE TOP FOR NEW LOAN

Committees Throughout Second Federal Reserve District Already at Work in the Drive for Subscribers.

EVERY COMMUNITY COVERED.

Chairman of Each Section Reports on Preliminary Activities to Line Up Local Committees for the Third Liberty Loan Campaign—Special Work In Farm Communities.

Immediately after Secretary McAdoo announced that the anniversary of the United States' entry into the war would be celebrated appropriately by the launching of the Third Liberty Loan on April 6, work was begun in earnest to organize the Second Federal Reserve district for the important part it will take in the drive for subscriptions. The chairmen of the committees for the eight subdistricts into which the Reserve District is divided jumped into action with the alacrity of army officers preparing for an attack.

The training received by these men during the last Liberty Loan campaign, and also by those who served with them on the different district committees, had fitted them to respond at a moment's notice to the government's call for their services.

For several days each chairman has been actively "on the job" in his district realigning his forces of Liberty Loan workers, strengthening the organization wherever it needed strengthening, and enlarging its scope by adding to local committees men who will give a wider representation to the interests of their communities.

Working to Reach All.

Each district is making special efforts to get into closer touch with the farmers and the country population. The enthusiasm shown by representatives of the various agricultural organizations who attended the farmers' convention recently held at Cornell convinced the heads of the Liberty Loan committees, who were also present, that if farmers in certain districts did not buy as many Liberty Bonds as they were expected to last fall it was because of some fault in the Liberty Loan selling organization, and not the fault of the farmers.

Organization plans in the various districts differ somewhat with respect to methods of bringing the agricultural communities into the next Liberty Loan drive in an active way, but in general the aim is to arouse a livelier interest by giving the farmers a larger representation on the local as well as the district committees. The men being chosen represent the Farm Bureau associations, the granges and the Dairymen's League.

The plan of organization being worked out in District No. 1 furnishes a particularly interesting illustration of the intensive canvass to be made for subscribers when the Third Liberty Loan drive begins.

The chairman for this district is Ray Morris of the New York firm of White, Weld & Co. The counties comprising the district are Niagara, Erie, Chautauqua, Orleans, Genesee, Wyoming, Alleghany and Cattaraugus. Farm teams of three men each are being organized in every school district. The team members will be thoroughly conversant with agricultural conditions in their respective districts and personally known to the farmers to whom they will appeal for subscriptions.

Local Members in Charge.

The work of the farm teams in a group of several school districts will be supervised by a member of a local subcommittee, while a man specially qualified to co-operate with and direct the work of the local committees, a man who is a practical farmer, has been chosen as a member of the district committee. Thus there has been established a direct line of communication between a group of bankers and business men at Liberty Loan headquarters in the city and a group of farmers in each community.

The Liberty Loan Committee for District No. 1 will maintain headquarters at Buffalo, from which all literature and publicity matter will be distributed throughout the district.

Headquarters for District No. 2 have already been established in Rochester at No. 79 St. Paul street. George W. Hodges of Remick, Hodges & Co., is chairman of the committee for this district, which comprises Monroe, Steuben, Livingston, Wayne, Ontario, Yates and Seneca counties.

It will require at least three or four weeks to organize the district fully to carry on its share of the work to make the next Liberty Loan a success, Mr. Hodges said. For a month several men representing the district committee have been calling on those who served as chairmen of local committees in the last campaign, with a view to getting them to consent to serve in the same capacity again. In nearly all cases they have agreed to do so.

Speaking for the Liberty Loan workers in the ten counties comprising District No. 3, which oversubscribed its quota of the last loan by about 6 per cent., James Sheldon, of Lee, Higginson & Co., chairman of the district committee, said: "The slogan up there is, 'We did it before, and we can do it again. You tell Uncle Sam that we are on the job.'" The ten counties comprising this district are St. Lawrence, Jefferson, Oswego, Cayuga, Cortland, Onondaga, Madison, Lewis, Oneida and Herkimer.

E. N. Potter of Potter, Choate & Prentice, chairman of the committee for District No. 4, has started to marshal his force of workers. The organization will be the same as that which did such effective work for the last loan. Because of their experience last fall Mr. Potter expects the workers on the various local committees to carry on a more intensive campaign this time, with better results in reaching the farmers. Headquarters for the district will be established at Binghamton. The counties included are Schuyler, Chemung, Tompkins, Tioga, Broome, Chenango, Otsego, Delaware and Sullivan.

The task of organizing District No. 5 has not been easy because its seventeen counties stretch out in a long strip of territory, extending from the northern boundary of New York to Westchester county on the south. This district supports many different kinds of industries.

Charles S. Sargent, Jr., of Kidder, Peabody & Co. is chairman of the district. Because there is so much ground to cover it will be necessary for the committee to maintain headquarters both in Albany and New York city, as was done during the last loan.

Appeal to Individuals.

"Extend the boundaries of your territory. Do not let them overlap, but see that every foot of the ground is canvassed." Instructions to this effect have been issued to the heads of local committees in District No. 6 by Acosta Nichols of Spencer, Trask & Co., chairman of the district committee. Mr. Nichols explained that the committee is trying to build up an organization that will give the highest expression to community sentiment and be the means of impressing upon each person in the district the sense of individual responsibility to see that each community furnishes its quota of subscriptions.

Included in District No. 6 is all of Long Island, except Kings county, and Staten Island.

G. Herman Kinnicutt of Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co. heads the Liberty Loan Committee for District No. 7, made up of 12 counties in New Jersey, in which the palatial suburban homes of many of New York city's rich men are to be found. In those same counties are also large settlements of foreign born workers. Mr. Kinnicutt feels that in every American community the right kind of an appeal for subscriptions to Liberty Bonds will get a response.

F. Q. Brown, mayor of Dobbs Ferry, said the organization for the district of which he is chairman—No. 8—embracing Rockland and Westchester counties in New York and Fairfield county in Connecticut, was in readiness to respond at the touch of the button to the command "Go over the top!"

"I'll just keep that date in mind."

COURAGE OF FARMERS AIDS LOAN SUCCESS.

A splendid tribute has been paid to the farmers of New York state by William Church Osborn, life member of the New York State Agricultural Society. In a statement to the Liberty Loan Committee Mr. Osborn said:

"The farmers of this state have shown that they know that a grain of wheat is as good as a grain of powder and a pound of pork as good as a pound of lead to help win the war. Short of labor, short of cash, short of seeds, suffering from the discouraging weather of 1917, they are opening the spring campaign of 1918 full of courage and of strength. This is particularly true of the small farmers, and my observation has been that the smaller the farmer the bigger the heart. Those farmers who made a winning—and there were many of them last year—will put every dollar they can afford into the Liberty Loan."

Pennsylvania Engineman Finds Method That Leaves Good Margin for Liberty Bonds.

Edward F. McKenzie, an engineman on the Pennsylvania railroad, typifies the citizen who is making every effort possible to help the country win the war. Here is his story in his own words:

"When our country entered the war for humanity I resolved to do everything in my power to help win the war. As a beginning I took council with my wife and son as to how we could do the most good. The following program was worked out for the table: Meat, two days a week; fish, two days a week, and the other days beans, soups, macaroni, etc. We use whole wheat, corn and rye bread in turn.

"I cultivated a war garden in my spare hours, which supplied our wants all summer in addition to a good supply for winter. The money saved enabled me to join the Red Cross and contribute to it and to the Y. M. C. A. fund, as well as church and hospital funds.

"I purchased a Liberty Bond in the first and also the second issues from my earnings, authorizing the railroad company to take 10 per cent. each month from my earnings, and I am adding to my savings to purchase more. I have also advised other employees to do the same."

THE THIRD LOAN

By WALT MASON.

NOW once again you'll have a chance to buy yourself a bond, and help the allies out in France, in Belgium and beyond. In April now our Uncle Sam will start another loan, and are you ready, as I am, to put up plunk and bone? It's little we old gents can do to help our armies win, but we can certainly come through with packages of tin. When everything is said and done, 'tis wealth will win the scrap, and there should be a flow of mon from every loyal chap. You are not asked to give away or sacrifice your dust: you lend to Uncle Sam—and, say, he's surely safe to trust! You are not asked to lend for fun; good interest you receive; if you've no bonds, when war is done, you'll rend your robe and grieve. Ah, then you'll hang your head in shame and sound a doleful note; you did not help to win the game and get the Prussian goat. But there is none with soul so dead he will not buy a bond, e'en though he has to cut out bread, and see his cookstove pawned. Let's march up cheerful, blithe and quick, and buy, and buy, and buy; for thus we'll make the Teuton sick, and soak him in the eye.

State Superintendent of Repairs Directs All Work Through Maintenance Organization.

(By E. B. HOUSE, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.)

Connecticut places the maintenance of her roads under an officer known as the superintendent of repairs. The state is divided into ten districts. Each district is under the control of a supervisor of repairs, who is located near the center of his district. Each district is divided into sections, and each section is in charge of a foreman. Under ordinary conditions these foremen work singly and devote their entire time to the repair and maintenance of the roads in their section. If an emergency comes, ten or fifteen men are placed under a foreman for repair work. These gangs of workmen are maintained continually and are transferred from place to place; put under one foreman for a few days, and then transferred to another section in order that the work may be properly done.

COMPANY TAKES OVER ROAD

Virginia Legislature Grants Charter to Private Concern to Operate Old Highway.

The legislature of Virginia has granted a charter to an association known as the Warrenton and Fairfax Turnpike company, Inc., which will take over the old Alexandria-Warrenton pike, to grade and resurface the road and operate it as a tollroad until the state wishes to take it back.

The charter states that when the state does take it back it must pay the stockholders the cost of the road, with interest, minus dividends.

IMPROVEMENT BY ROAD DRAG

Farmer Can Be Convinced of Effectiveness by Use of Implement After Each Rain.

If you are not one of the fortunate ones with a good macadam or even concrete road in front of your place, you can make a good road of it if drainage has been attended to by the use of the road drag. Just try it after each rain, on the stretch of road leading from your gateway toward town the length of your holdings; you will not only be surprised and gratified with the improvement, but you may be encouraging your neighbor just beyond to do likewise.

Opening of Forty-Mile Boulevard in Canada First Step in System of Improved Highways.

The new concrete highway between Toronto and Hamilton, Ontario, was opened recently. The premier of Ontario announced at the opening that the 40-mile boulevard between the two cities was only the first step in a great system of improved highways throughout the whole of Ontario. Plans have been made for this work, but it will not be undertaken until the actual end of the war is in sight.

GOOD ROADS ARE ESSENTIAL

Better Highways Must Be Secured to Make It Possible to Consolidate the Schools.

Back of the whole country school problem looms the road question. You can't have better schools without better roads. Better roads must be secured to make it possible to centralize and consolidate the schools. Where communities enjoy the advantages of good roads, commodious buildings have been provided, more competent teachers have been employed and modern facilities for teaching have been supplied at a minimum cost.

Plan Size of Culvert.

The size of the culvert to be placed depends upon the amount of water to be taken care of, but no less than a 12-inch pipe is recommended.

Determine Type of Culvert.

The side of the culvert and the type of structure should be determined by careful investigation.

Washington, April 5.—The first step in taking over the telegraph and cable companies of the United States was foreshadowed today, it is believed, when the Interstate Commerce Commission formally ordered a sweeping investigation into forty-three companies.

Net and gross earnings of any of the corporation and the expenditure of all moneys and the purposes for which they were expended, and any other transactions which may give any intimation as to the present value of their property, its cost and the history of the corporations and the acquisition of property now owned will be thoroughly investigated according to the order.

SOCIETY NOTES.

D. A. R. Hear Violin Recital.

There was a large attendance of the members of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R. at the April meeting held at the Chapter House on Thursday afternoon. During the business session it was voted that the Chapter should buy a Liberty Bond, at the coming May drive. All members of the chapter wishing to contribute to the purchase of such a bond for the chapter, are asked to send their contributions to Mrs. Henry Van Hoevenberg before May first. The chapter was presented with a handsome antique octagonal wall clock, owned by Harry Hudler, uncle of Mrs. William Frey, who presented the clock, which was received with expressions of gratitude and appreciation.

Mrs. DeWitt Roosa and Mrs. A. T. Clearwater had charge of the program and were also the hostesses of the afternoon.

The program, which was hugely enjoyed by every one present and especially by the music lovers, was in the nature of a violin recital, the soloist being Ford Hummel, with Mrs. Hummel at the piano. The numbers played, and each seemingly more enjoyed than its predecessor, were:

Sonata, A Major .... Handel
Concerto, No. 8 .... Dr. Beriot
Meditation (Thais) .... Massenet
Rondino .... Kreisler
Minuet in F .... Handel
Slavonic Cradle Song .... Neruda
Second Concerto .... Wieniawaski
Nightingale (Russian) ... Vieutemps
Polish Dance .... Wieniawaski

This exceedingly artistic and musicianly program was followed by the serving of such light refreshments as are still permissible in war times.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 5.—There was pressure against the stock market at the opening today, causing declines ranging from fractions to about one point all through the list, with the lower levels attributed to a renewed disposition to wait for favorable news from the battle front. There was some liquidation of speculative lines taken on in the last few days. Most of the selling was by room traders who were prominent buyers in the early trading yesterday. Steel Common yielded ½ to 89⅞, and most of the other steel industrials showed fractional losses. Union Pacific was ¾ lower at 119 and Central Leather yielded ⅞ to 66¼. General Motors opened ⅝ higher at 121 and then dropped to 118⅛ and Mexican Petroleum yielded nearly one point to 93⅛.

The market was dull again soon after the opening but a steadier tone developed and some issues made rallies to about one point from the low level. There was a general absence of speculative interest except in a couple of specialties. Marine Preferred on quiet accumulation rallied nearly one point to 92¾. Atlantic Gulf was in supply selling down over 1 point to 108¼. American Telephone yielded ¾ to 99½, and General Motors which opened at 123 fell to 118½. There were fractional losses in several of the copper stocks. Bonds were steady. Liberty 4's were traded in at 96.40 while the 3½'s were traded in at 98.90.

The market was extremely dull during the afternoon. American Sumatra Tobacco was exceptionally weak, dropping 1⅝ to 96 and Marine Pfd. fell ⅝ to 92⅛. Distillers moved up one point to 40⅝. Steel Common held steady around 90. Liberty Bonds were slightly lower, the 3½'s declining to 98.80 and the second 4's to 96.32.

The market was extremely dull in late dealing today. Steel Common sold around 90. There was little change shown by the other leading issues. Distillers was strong, moving up from a low of 39⅝ to 41¼.

OVER THE TOP FOR NEW LOAN

Committees Throughout Second Federal Reserve District Already at Work in the Drive for Subscribers.

EVERY COMMUNITY COVERED.

Chairman of Each Section Reports on Preliminary Activities to Line Up Local Committees for the Third Liberty Loan Campaign—Special Work in Farm Communities.

Immediately after Secretary McAdoo announced that the anniversary of the United States' entry into the war would be celebrated appropriately by the launching of the Third Liberty Loan on April 6, work was begun in earnest to organize the Second Federal Reserve district for the important part it will take in the drive for subscriptions. The chairmen of the committees for the eight subdistricts into which the Reserve District is divided jumped into action with the alacrity of army officers preparing for an attack.

The training received by these men during the last Liberty Loan campaign, and also by those who served with them on the different district committees, had fitted them to respond at a moment's notice to the government's call for their services.

For several days each chairman has been actively "on the job" in his district realigning his forces of Liberty Loan workers, strengthening the organization wherever it needed strengthening, and enlarging its scope by adding to local committees men who will give a wider representation to the interests of their communities.

Working to Reach All.

Each district is making special efforts to get into closer touch with the farmers and the country population. The enthusiasm shown by representatives of the various agricultural organizations who attended the farmers' convention recently held at Cornell convinced the heads of the Liberty Loan committees, who were also present, that if farmers in certain districts did not buy as many Liberty Bonds as they were expected to last fall it was because of some fault in the Liberty Loan selling organization, and not the fault of the farmers.

Organization plans in the various districts differ somewhat with respect to methods of bringing the agricultural communities into the next Liberty Loan drive in an active way, but in general the aim is to arouse a livelier interest by giving the farmers a larger representation on the local as well as the district committees. The men being chosen represent the Farm Bureau associations, the granges and the Dairymen's League.

The plan of organization being worked out in District No. 1 furnishes a particularly interesting illustration of the intensive canvass to be made for subscribers when the Third Liberty Loan drive begins.

The chairman for this district is Ray Morris of the New York firm of White, Weld & Co. The counties comprising the district are Niagara, Erie, Chautauqua, Orleans, Genesee, Wyoming, Alleghany and Cattaraugus. Farm teams of three men each are being organized in every school district. The team members will be thoroughly conversant with agricultural conditions in their respective districts and personally known to the farmers to whom they will appeal for subscriptions.

Local Members in Charge.

The work of the farm teams in a group of several school districts will be supervised by a member of a local subcommittee, while a man specially qualified to co-operate with and direct the work of the local committees, a man who is a practical farmer, has been chosen as a member of the district committee. Thus there has been established a direct line of communication between a group of bankers and business men at Liberty Loan headquarters in the city and a group of farmers in each community.

The Liberty Loan Committee for District No. 1 will maintain headquarters at Buffalo, from which all literature and publicity matter will be distributed throughout the district.

Headquarters for District No. 2 have already been established in Rochester at No. 79 St. Paul street. George W. Hodges of Remick, Hodges & Co., is chairman of the committee for this district, which comprises Monroe, Steuben, Livingston, Wayne, Ontario, Yates and Seneca counties.

It will require at least three or four weeks to organize the district fully to carry on its share of the work to make the next Liberty Loan a success, Mr. Hodges said. For a month several men representing the district committee have been calling on those who served as chairmen of local committees in the last campaign, with a view to getting them to consent to serve in the same capacity again. In nearly all cases they have agreed to do so.

Speaking for the Liberty Loan workers in the ten counties comprising District No. 3, which oversubscribed its quota of the last loan by about 6 per cent., James Sheldon, of Lee, Higginson & Co., chairman of the district committee, said: "The slogan up there is, 'We did it before, and we can do it again. You tell Uncle Sam that we are on the job.'" The ten counties comprising this district are St. Lawrence, Jefferson, Oswego, Cayuga, Certland, Onondaga, Madison, Lewis, Oneida and Herkimer.

E. N. Potter of Potter, Choate & Prentice, chairman of the committee for District No. 4, has started to marshal his force of workers. The organization will be the same as that which did such effective work for the last loan. Because of their experience last fall Mr. Potter expects the workers on the various local committees to carry on a more intensive campaign this time, with better results in reaching the farmers. Headquarters for the district will be established at Binghamton. The counties included are Schuyler, Chemung, Tompkins, Tioga, Broome, Chenango, Otsego, Delaware and Sullivan.

The task of organizing District No. 5 has not been easy because its seventeen counties stretch out in a long strip of territory, extending from the northern boundary of New York to Westchester county on the south. This district supports many different kinds of industries.

Charles S. Sargent, Jr., of Kidder, Peabody & Co. is chairman of the district. Because there is so much ground to cover it will be necessary for the committee to maintain headquarters both in Albany and New York city, as was done during the last loan.

Appeal to Individuals.

"Extend the boundaries of your territory. Do not let them overlap, but see that every foot of the ground is canvassed." Instructions to this effect have been issued to the heads of local committees in District No. 6 by Acosta Nichols of Spencer, Trask & Co., chairman of the district committee. Mr. Nichols explained that the committee is trying to build up an organization that will give the highest expression to community sentiment and be the means of impressing upon each person in the district the sense of individual responsibility to see that each community furnishes its quota of subscriptions.

Included in District No. 6 is all of Long Island, except Kings county, and Staten Island.

G. Herman Kinnicutt of Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co. heads the Liberty Loan Committee for District No. 7, made up of 12 counties in New Jersey, in which the palatial suburban homes of many of New York city's rich men are to be found. In those same counties are also large settlements of foreign born workers. Mr. Kinnicutt feels that in every American community the right kind of an appeal for subscriptions to Liberty Bonds will get a response.

F. Q. Brown, mayor of Dobbs Ferry, said the organization for the district of which he is chairman—No. 8—embracing Rockland and Westchester counties in New York and Fairfield county in Connecticut, was in readiness to respond at the touch of the button to the command "Go over the top!"

"I'll just keep that date in mind."

COURAGE OF FARMERS AIDS LOAN SUCCESS.

A splendid tribute has been paid to the farmers of New York state by William Church Osborn, life member of the New York State Agricultural Society. In a statement to the Liberty Loan Committee Mr. Osborn said:

This is particularly true of the small farmers, and my observation has been that the smaller the farmer the bigger the heart. State Superintendent of Repairs Directs All Work Through Maintenance Organization.

(By E. B. HOUSE, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.)

Connecticut places the maintenance of her roads under an officer known as the superintendent of repairs. The state is divided into ten districts. Each district is under the control of a supervisor of repairs, who is located near the center of his district. Each district is divided into sections, and each section is in charge of a foreman. Under ordinary conditions these foremen work singly and devote their entire time to the repair and maintenance of the roads in their section. If an emergency comes, ten or fifteen men are placed under a foreman for repair work. These gangs of workmen are maintained continually and are transferred from place to place; put under one foreman for a few days, and then transferred to another section in order that the work may be properly done.

Permanent Road in Connecticut.

COMPANY TAKES OVER ROAD

Virginia Legislature Grants Charter to Private Concern to Operate Old Highway.

The legislature of Virginia has granted a charter to an association known as the Warrenton and Fairfax Turnpike company, Inc., which will take over the old Alexandria-Warrenton pike, to grade and resurface the road and operate it as a tollroad until the state wishes to take it back.

The charter states that when the state does take it back it must pay the stockholders the cost of the road, with interest, minus dividends.

IMPROVEMENT BY ROAD DRAG

Farmer Can Be Convinced of Effectiveness by Use of Implement After Each Rain.

If you are not one of the fortunate ones with a good macadam or even concrete road in front of your place you can make a good road of it if drainage has been attended to by the use of the road drag. Just try it after each rain, on the stretch of road leading from your gateway toward town the length of your holdings; you will not only be surprised and gratified with the improvement, but you may be encouraging your neighbor just beyond to do likewise.

OUTLINES GOOD ROADS PLAN

Opening of Forty-Mile Boulevard in Canada First Step in System of Improved Highways.

The new concrete highway between Toronto and Hamilton, Ontario, was opened recently. The premier of Ontario announced at the opening that the 40-mile boulevard between the two cities was only the first step in a great system of improved highways throughout the whole of Ontario. Plans have been made for this work, but it will not be undertaken until the actual end of the war is in sight.

GOOD ROADS ARE ESSENTIAL

Better Highways Must Be Secured to Make It Possible to Consolidate the Schools.

Back of the whole country school problem looms the road question. You can't have better schools without better roads. Better roads must be secured to make it possible to centralize and consolidate the schools. Where communities enjoy the advantages of good roads, commodious buildings have been provided, more competent teachers have been employed and modern facilities for teaching have been supplied at a minimum cost.

Plan Size of Culvert.

The size of the culvert to be placed depends upon the amount of water to be taken care of, but no less than a 12-inch pipe is recommended.

Determine Type of Culvert.

The side of the culvert and the type of structure should be determined by careful investigation.

LABOR CASES IN POLICE COURT

Five Cases Have a Hearing This Morning—Bostonian Waist Inc. Fined $20—Disposition of Other Cases.

Joseph Tesora had a first-class alibi this morning in police court when his case came up for trial before Judge Schirick on a charge of not posting a schedule of the working hours of Angelo Giuffiu of No. 67 O'Neil street, when he placed in evidence the fact that Angelo was in partnership with him having bought a half interest in the fruit business at 644 Broadway in January when the alleged labor law violation occurred in February. Mr. Tesora was represented by W. D. Brinnier, Jr., and having heard the evidence in the case Judge Schirick discharged Tesora.

Bostonian Fined $20.

The Bostonian Waist Inc., on lower Hasbrouckk avenue, was fined $20 when the manager pleaded guilty to allowing Ida Gross of 24 Abeel street, to work at 6:20 o'clock when her quitting hour was 6 o'clock. This was on February 26. The manager said the girls had taken time off to see the soldier boys off that day and they were making up lost time.

Judge Schirick called the attention of the manager to the fact that this was not the first time the company had been in trouble over the labor question and for that reason he imposed the minimum fine of $20.

The manager of the plant announced that he would take an appeal from the court's decision.

West Union Street Plant.

Jacob Kreppel, manager of the Haipern & Friedman shirt factory at No. 7 West Union street, was arrested charged with permitting Anna May Riker of 21 Abeel street, to work at 6:20 o'clock when the time for her to stop was 6 o'clock. Mr. Kreppel pleaded guilty and sentence was suspended.

Nekos Guilty.

The next labor case to be tried was that of Tony Nekos who has a confectionery store on Wall street. He was represented by W. D. Brinnier, Jr. Mr. Nekos was charged with not having the schedule of working hours posted of Nick Demas who is a clerk in the store. Mr. Nekos acknowledged that the notice was not posted when the laor inspector was there on a Sunday in February but said it had been posted on one of the mirrors in the store and had been taken off when the mirror was washed.

Judge Schirick found him guilty and suspended sentence.

Edward Nolan changed his plea of not guilty to guilty in failing to have the working schedule posted in his place of business. He was discharged with a reprimand and sentence was suspended.

Judge Issues Warning.

Judge Schirick issued a general warning that while he would be lenient in the cases before him especially where they were first offenders he wanted to warn them the labor law must be obeyed and they could expect no leniency if brought before him again.

P. J. Hughes represented the labor department in all five cases.

KINGSTON SENT 5 TO CAMP WADSWORTH

Corporal Lunard and Private Jones Meet With Success in Recruiting Campaign for Twenty-seventh Division, Now at Spartanburg.

Two additional recruits for the Twenty-seventh (New York) Division of the National Guard Army now in camp at Camp Wadsworth, South Carolina, were secured on Thursday through the efforts of Corporal Carl Lunard and Private Donald Jones, and they with the three recruits reported in The Freeman Thursday night, left town this morning on the 9 o'clock West Shore train for Fort Slocum, from which place they will be sent to Camp Wadsworth promptly.

The additional recruits for the Twenty-seventh Division were.

John Witkowski, of 27 Hanratty street.

Stanley Baliszwiski of 27 Hanratty street.

The others who already had enlisted were:

George Bergen of 612 Delaware avenue.

Edward Hogan, of 65 West Union street.

John Hamburg of 73 Spruce street.

The five men were presented with sweaters and other articles which make up the soldier's outfit by the local chapter of the Red Cross, and also with comfort kits.

Corporal Lunard today spoke at the Orpheum Theater where he will also speak tonight, making eleven speeches which he will have made before Kingston audiences. He is a native of Denmark and never tires of telling of German oppression which has been practiced in Danish provinces from exile of adults to compulsory German education of school children.

Both Corporal Lunard and Private Jones will remain in Kingston until Monday morning, and will be at the armory each day and evening to receive recruits for the Twenty-seventh Division.

The five who were sent to Camp Wadsworth will belong to the One Hundred and Seventh Regiment, formerly the old Seventh Regiment of New York city. A number of Kingstonians have been transferred to the One Hundred and Seventh, including Drs. Fred Snyder and William J. Coogan, who have been at Camp Wadsworth since it was established.

SERVICE MEDALS FOR BOY SCOUTS

U. S. War Service Medals to be Presented to Boy Scouts by Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck—The Public Invited.

The inauguration of the Third Liberty Loan will be marked by an important event to take place in the state armory Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The U. S. Treasury Department has sent 35 War Service Emblems to the Kingston Boy Scouts in recognition of their work in selling Liberty Bonds of the second issue. These medals are now on exhibition at Warren's Sporting Goods Store and in the window of the Cronelly Drug Company of Rondout.

The boys of today may never have the opportunity of actually fighting in this world crisis, but every Boy Scout may feel proud of the fact that the government has called upon his organization to help win the war in a way that is just as important as bearing arms. If the war is to be waged successfully by the Allies, the work of selling Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps must continue. The scouts who will wear these medals presented by the government will have reason to be proud of themselves and in years to come will value these awards more and more.

It is just as possible for a boy to be a slacker these days as it for a man. There are many boys in this city who are going on enjoying themselves as they would if there were no war at all. They never think of giving up a ball game for war work. Yesterday we heard of a boy who did some work in preparation for the Liberty Loan instead of attending baseball practice and when he reported later he was fired from the team. Don't you think the captain of that team was a traitor to his country?

We want every Boy Scout to attend the meeting tomorrow afternoon whether he is to receive a medal or not.

The meeting will be open to the public and we trust that there will be a large audience to witness the honor which the government is bestowing upon these young patriots.

"If I Only Had a Million."

Under the direction of the Christian Endeavor Society of Fair Street Reformed Church, an amusing comedy entitled, "If I Only Had a Million," will be presented this evening in the Sunday school room of the church. The various parts are in the hands of a competent cast. Special scenery will add to the pleasure of the production.

Mrs. Rose Gets Divorce.

A divorce has been granted to Mrs. Ward Rose of Schenectady from her husband, Ward Rose a former resident of this city. Mrs. Rose before her marriage was Miss Eva Egnor and she will retain her maiden name.

Are at Newburgh Conference.

Fred M. Dressel and E. B. Schepmoes are the lay delegates from the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church to the M. E. conference now in session in Newburgh.

The 11th Ward Coal Bill.

In reporting the meeting of the charity board it was stated the 11th ward coal bill for March was $217.-64. It should have read $51.79.

LABOR CASES IN POLICE COURT

Five Cases Have a Hearing This Morning—Bostonian Waist Inc. Fined $20—Disposition of Other Cases.

Joseph Tesora had a first-class alibi this morning in police court when his case came up for trial before Judge Schirick on a charge of not posting a schedule of the working hours of Angelo Giuffiu of No. 67 O'Neil street, when he placed in evidence the fact that Angelo was in partnership with him having bought a half interest in the fruit business at 644 Broadway in January when the alleged labor law violation occurred in February. Mr. Tesora was represented by W. D. Brinnier, Jr., and having heard the evidence in the case Judge Schirick discharged Tesora.

Bostonian Fined $20.

The Bostonian Waist Inc., on lower Hasbrouckk avenue, was fined $20 when the manager pleaded guilty to allowing Ida Gross of 24 Abeel street, to work at 6:20 o'clock when her quitting hour was 6 o'clock. This was on February 26. The manager said the girls had taken time off to see the soldier boys off that day and they were making up lost time.

Judge Schirick called the attention of the manager to the fact that this was not the first time the company had been in trouble over the labor question and for that reason he imposed the minimum fine of $20. The manager of the plant announced that he would take an appeal from the court's decision.

West Union Street Plant.

Jacob Kreppel, manager of the Halpern & Friedman shirt factory at No. 7 West Union street, was arrested charged with permitting Anna May Riker of 21 Abeel street, to work at 6:20 o'clock when the time for her to stop was 6 o'clock. Mr. Kreppel pleaded guilty and sentence was suspended.

Nekos Guilty.

The next labor case to be tried was that of Tony Nekos who has a confectionery store on Wall street. He was represented by W. D. Brinnier, Jr. Mr. Nekos was charged with not having the schedule of working hours posted of Nick Demas who is a clerk in the store. Mr. Nekos acknowledged that the notice was not posted when the laor inspector was there on a Sunday in February but said it had been posted on one of the mirrors in the store and had been taken off when the mirror was washed.

Judge Schirick found him guilty and suspended sentence.

Edward Nolan changed his plea of not guilty to guilty in failing to have the working schedule posted in his place of business. He was discharged with a reprimand and sentence was suspended.

Judge Issues Warning.

Judge Schirick issued a general warning that while he had been lenient in the cases before him especially where they were first offenders he wanted to warn them the labor law must be obeyed and they oould expect no leniency if brought before him again.

P. J. Hughes represented the labor department in all five cases.

KINGSTON SENT 5 TO CAMP WADSWORTH

Corporal Lunard and Private Jones Meet With Success in Recruiting Campaign for Twenty-seventh Division, Now at Spartanburg.

Two additional recruits for the Twenty-seventh (New York) Division of the National Guard Army now in camp at Camp Wadsworth, South Carolina, were secured on Thursday through the efforts of Corporal Carl Lunard and Private Donald Jones, and they with the three recruits reported in The Freeman Thursday night, left town this morning on the 9 o'clock West Shore train for Fort Slocum, from which place they will be sent to Camp Wadsworth promptly.

The additional recruits for the Twenty-seventh Division were:

John Witkowski, of 27 Hanratty street.

Stanley Baliszwiski of 27 Hanratty street.

The others who already had enlisted were:

George Bergen of 612 Delaware avenue.

Edward Hogan, of 65 West Union street.

John Hamburg of 73 Spruce street.

The five men were presented with sweaters and other articles which make up the soldier's outfit by the local chapter of the Red Cross, and also with comfort kits.

Corporal Lunard today spoke at the Orpheum Theater where he will also speak tonight, making eleven speeches which he will have made before Kingston audiences. He is a native of Denmark and never tires of telling of German oppression which has been practiced in Danish provinces from exile of adults to compulsory German education of school children.

Both Corporal Lunard and Private Jones will remain in Kingston until Monday morning, and will be at the armory each day and evening to receive recruits for the Twenty-seventh Division.

The five who were sent to Camp Wadsworth will belong to the One Hundred and Seventh Regiment, formerly the old Seventh Regiment of New York city. A number of Kingstonians have been transferred to the One Hundred and Seventh, including Drs. Fred Snyder and William J. Coogan, who have been at Camp Wadsworth since it was established.

SERVICE MEDALS FOR BOY SCOUTS

U. S. War Service Medals to be Presented to Boy Scouts by Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck—The Public Invited.

The inauguration of the Third Liberty Loan will be marked by an important event to take place in the state armory Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The U. S. Treasury Department has sent 35 War Service Emblems to the Kingston Boy Scouts in recognition of their work in selling Liberty Bonds of the second issue. These medals are now on exhibition at Warren's Sporting Goods Store and in the window of the Cnonelly Drug Company of Rondout.

The boys of today may never have the opportunity of actually fighting in this world crisis, but every Boy Scout may feel proud of the fact that the government has called upon his organization to help win the war in a way that is just as important as bearing arms. If the war is to be waged successfully by the Allies, the work of selling Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps must continue. The scouts who will wear these medals presented by the government will have reason to be proud of themselves and in years to come will value these awards more and more.

It is just as possible for a boy to be a slacker these days as it for a man. There are many boys in this city who are going on enjoying themselves as they would if there were no war at all. They never think of giving up a ball game for war work. Yesterday we heard of a boy who did some work in preparation for the Liberty Loan instead of attending baseball practice and when he reported later he was fired from the team. Don't you think the captain of that team was a traitor to his country?

We want every Boy Scout to attend the meeting tomorrow afternoon whether he is to receive a medal or not.

The meeting will be open to the public and we trust that there will be a large audience to witness the honor which the government is bestowing upon these young patriots.

Music and Singing.

The Medical Journal says that the sensory center of music is "to be looked for in the anterior two-thirds of the first left temporal convolution and in the anterior half of the second." "The motor center of singing is probably situated in the second frontal convolution, while that of musical reading is in the left parietal lobe. The centers of musical movement, which govern execution or interpretation upon various instruments, appear to develop in direct relation to the progress made by practice in the ascending parietal convolution beside the motor center of music writing."

Music and Singing.

The Medical Journal says that the sensory center of music is "to be looked for in the anterior two-thirds of the first left temporal convolution and in the anterior half of the second." "The motor center of singing is probably situated in the second frontal convolution, while that of musical reading is in the left parietal lobe. The centers of musical movement, which govern execution or interpretation upon various instruments, appear to develop in direct relation to the progress made by practice in the ascending parietal convolution beside the motor center of music writing."
